ADRIATIC PROBLEM PLANNED

NEED AMERICA'S ADVICE

Absence of American Representative
At Council Meetings Called
Big Obstacle—Italy May Demand Enforcement
Of London Pact

(By Ed. L. Keen)

By United Press Leased Wire

London.—The Franco-British premiers never intended to act finally in the Adriatic dispute between Italy and Jugoslavia without first consulting the United States, they assert in their reply to President Wilson's latest communication.

The reply dated February 25 agrees with Wilson that any settlement mutually agreeable to Italy and Jugoslavia would be the ideal adjustment. It expresses the willingness of the council of premiers to withdraw its proposals of December 9 and Jan. 20 and again points out that the absence of an American representative in the Allies' deliberations has proved an insurmountable obstacle.

As to the much disputed secret pact of London, the note invites Wilson's cooperation. It insists that this secret agreement by which Italy was to be given valuable concessions in the Adriatic for entering the war on the side of the Allies, was necessitated by the military situation at the time it was signed.

Calling the president's attention to the urgency of an early settlement of the dispute the premiers again point out that in event Italy and Jugoslavia are able to reach no voluntary agreement Great Britain and France will again face the Italian demand for enforcement of the London agreement.

The sessions of the council will be continued through next week, it was announced officially.

Premier Nitti who was reported to have decided to return to Rome today will remain in London, it was announced and Premier Millerand who was forced to return to Paris because of the French railway strike will return at the earliest possible time.

The council intends to divide its work in two parts. The premiers with their expert advisers, will take up unsettled economic and financial problems while the ambassadors and foreign ministers will continue work on the Turkish and Hungarian treaties and the Adriatic problem.

Some observers saw significance in the conference between Lloyd George and M. Pasich, former premier of Serbia and one of the leaders in the Jugoslavian nation. They believed the two reports yesterday that the two leaders have discussed the reported decision of Italy and Jugoslavia to settle the Adriatic dispute by mutual agreement.

It was understood that no witnesses would be subpoenaed but various people of the city and county are being called on and matters talked over informally.

Recognition Of Soviets By U. S. Expected Soon

All the Allied Nations Striving to Get On Good Terms With Russia—
Senator France Leads the Recognition Fight

(By Raymond Clapper)

By United Press Leased Wire

Washington.—Recognition of soviet Russia by the United States in the near future was predicted today by senate leaders.

Senator Hitchcock, Nebraska, administrator spokesman, declared recognition of relations with Russia is "very near."

Senator Borah, Idaho, republican, predicted recognition of Russia by the Allies within ten days and action by the United States soon afterward.

All sides declared the situation is rapidly being brought to a climax by the feelings which the soviet government is now throwing out.

A resolution directing the president to extend friendly recognition to Russia at once is pending in the senate foreign relations committee but members doubted if any action will be taken at once. They prefer to give the administration a free hand, Senator France, author of the resolution, declared, however, that he would press for hearing at the earliest possible date.

"I believe that the European nations will recognize the soviet government very soon," France said. "European statesmen played on our emotions and used them to further their own purposes when they feared bolshevism. Now that they see Russia is out to form a coalition with Germany and realize she offers tremendous opportunities for trade, they want to find a way to capture these markets."

"It was a blunder for the Allies to lose Russia. If the new Russian government had acknowledged responsibility for the bonds held by France there never would have been such anti-bolshevik feeling in Europe. That was the big mistake the bolsheviks made and I think they should make this debt good."

"Europe with something to gain from soviet Russia, now views the situation from a different attitude. The temper of the senate has also changed somewhat on this question. The free people of the United States should welcome the people of Russia as creators of another republic."

By United Press Leased Wire

Washington.—George P. Hampton, managing director of the Farmers' National council, today announced organization of a political alliance between the railroad unions to elect a congress responsible to the people, which will smash the "food, transportation and money trusts."

The alliance is to be known as the Farmers-Labor congressional committee. Hampton is chairman and the vice chairman is Warren S. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

French Railway Lines Are Tied Up By General Strike

By United Press Leased Wire
Paris.—The National Federation of Railway men today ordered a general strike of all railway workers in France. The strike is effective immediately.

Although the strike order declares that sabotage will not be countenanced the government immediately ordered troops to Paris to protect railway property and prevent rioting.

The government this afternoon announced its determination to fight the strike to a finish. Following the issuance of the general strike order the government gave out a statement warning that it intends to use "vigorous measures" to maintain order and take every precaution to prevent violence or industrial inactivity.

The authorities will arrest any one resisting either the government's mobilization order, or its order to requisition motor trucks, pleasure cars, and airplanes to keep food supplies and the mails moving, the statement said.

A final fight between the government and the striking railway workers is indicated.

The "revolutionary character" of the strike, as pointed out by Premier Millerand in his address to the chamber of deputies yesterday apparently had been averted.

Similar action throughout the country will be taken during the week, political leaders here said today.

The action for the nomination here, was fostered by 50 acknowledged wets who declare they will force the prohibition issue into the 1920 presidential elections. They will stand by the nomination of Governor Edwards at San Francisco they insisted.

Those backing this action will insist on support of candidates favoring a "light wine and beer" amendment to the prohibition act, they declared. Democratic and republican candidates in the state primary will be asked to state their stand on the wet and dry question, they said.

Alderman Anton J. Cermak, active political head of the United Societies is leading the movement here. Cermak today declared the United Societies "defied William J. Bryan to enter the Illinois democratic primaries as an opponent of Governor Edwards."

RAILROAD CONSTRUCTION BOOM WILL START SOON

Return of Roads to Private Ownership
Will be Signal for Beginning
Construction Work

By United Press Leased Wire

Chicago.—A railroad construction boom was forecast by railroad officials here today.

This boom, one official said, is "bound to come" as soon as the roads are returned to private ownership.

"The railroads will have to build many new lines" L. C. Rice, assistant to the chief engineer of the Santa Fe said.

"Before the war the Santa Fe was constructing at least 100 to 150 miles of new track a year; during the time the government controlled the roads the Santa Fe constructed about fifty miles of new track."

J. C. Holt, chief engineer of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul corroborated Rice's statement.

"A railroad boom is sure to come," Holt said. "How soon it will start I cannot say. We will have to see how large a treasury we have when the government turns back the railroads."

FRENCH PRESIDENT SEES EVERLASTING FRIENDSHIP

By United Press Leased Wire
London.—"France and Great Britain are united for ever," President Doumergue of France asserted in a message printed in the Morning Post today.

Germany, the French president pointed out, succeeded in cementing a political, military and economic alliance between the central European powers into a union dissolved only by the war. But now, he said, France and Great Britain have joined to assure independence of every European nation and tranquility in the world.

"Our entente constitutes the keystone of the league of nations," Doumergue concluded.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—The sales division of the war department today announced it had notified the New York zone office that the sale of army shoes and overcoats to the Russian soviet government cannot be made.

today. The professional syndicate of French railway workers issued an appeal denouncing the soviet agitators who early had announced their intention to control the lines by soviet and discharge all the workers who refused to join them.

The appeal characterized the attempt to "produce a state of anarchy" through stopping food supplies by the strike as a "crime and high social treason."

France, the appeal said, has the greatest need for activity by all her workers, "to raise herself from her ruins." It characterized the strike as "anti-national" concluding:

"We issued a formal order for all members to continue work."

The council of ministers has decided to establish two men-of-days a week, should the strike render it necessary.

Public opinion and the press, except in radical circles, were violently opposed to the strike. It was estimated, however, that the walkout was more than 90 per cent effective in the Paris-Lyon-Mediterranean system. There was some service on the eastern line while in the north service was about normal.

Suburban lines, which carry thousands of workers to and from their tasks in Paris, were tied up late yesterday and thousands were forced to seek lodging in the city proper or sleep in parks.

NEW JERSEY LAW WILL NOT PREVENT ARRESTS

FEDERAL INTERNAL REVENUE
COMMISSION SAYS VIOLA-TION OF DRY LAW WILL BE PROSECUTED

By United Press Leased Wire

Washington.—Persons found guilty of the manufacture or sale of 3 1/2 per cent beer are guilty of violation of federal statutes and will be proceeded against to the limit of the law, Internal Revenue Commissioner Roper, warned today.

Roper's statement was in answer to inquiries as to what would be his course if the New Jersey legislature passed a measure permitting 2 1/2 per cent beer.

Roper's statement reads: "The bureau of internal revenue is charged with the enforcement of the national prohibition act which definitely prohibits the manufacture and sale for beverage purposes of all liquors containing one half per cent or more of alcohol by volume. This being the case, the manufacture and sale of 3 1/2 per cent beer, which is permitted by the bill passed by one branch of the New Jersey legislature is in direct violation of the federal statute. All persons, therefore, who are found guilty of this violation of the federal statute will be proceeded against to the limit of the law."

LOYD GEORGE PLAN FOR IRELAND IS MADE PUBLIC

British Premier Would Set up Two Parliaments in Ireland—Supreme Courts for North and South

By United Press Leased Wire

London.—Premier Lloyd George's new plan for settlement of the home rule question in Ireland was before the British public today. The official text of the bill introduced in the house of commons Wednesday was made public last night. It is practically identical in its larger phases to the outline given out last December.

Under the bill two parliaments would be set up, each for five year terms, to meet yearly under control of the lord lieutenant. The southern parliament would have 128 members and the northern 52, representing the counties of Armagh, Antrim, Down, Londonderry, Fermanagh and Tyrone and the boroughs of Londonderry and Belfast.

The southern section would be required to raise 5 per cent of the taxes. Separate supreme courts would be established for the north and south.

GIRLS MAY SMOKE BUT MOONSHINING IS TABOO

The expelled students and teachers also were reported discovered "shooting craps for money."

Rev. Griffin's only comment on the school scandal today was that the six women "had flagrantly violated rules." He insisted "we stand for righteousness and right living and demand it from all teachers and students."

HITCHCOCK AND BORAH COMBINE TO DEFEAT PACT

SENATOR KELLOGG CHARGES
BITTER ENDERS AND HITCH-
COCK ARE IN A DARK
CONSPIRACY

HOPE FOR SPLIT IN G. O. P.

Hope is Based on Belief That Borah
Will Insist Plank Demanding Rejection of League of Nations
Covenant

(By L. C. Martin)

By United Press Leased Wire

Washington.—Senator Kellogg, Minnesota today charged that Senator Hitchcock, democratic leader, had formed an alliance with Senator Borah, leader of the republican "bitter enders" to defeat the peace treaty.

In a speech to the senate Kellogg said that Hitchcock is trying to kill the treaty with the aid of republican votes if he can, and with democratic votes if he can't get republican ones.

After charging that Hitchcock has allied himself with Borah, Kellogg said:

"I congratulate both senators on their new alliance. I do not wish them success, but I hope they get out of it all the pleasure they can."

Kellogg declared the fact that Hitchcock had offered as a reservation of domestic questions a proposal which Kellogg said would amount to amending the treaty, is proof of his desire to bring about its rejection.

Taking up the Adriatic controversy, Kellogg said that "it is not very encouraging as to the way the peace treaty will work out."

Quoting from President Wilson's Adriatic note of Feb. 24, Kellogg emphasized the statement with regard to self-determination as a basis of the proposed settlement. He declared that this rule was not applied to the Saar valley, Silesia and other territorial settlements, made in the peace treaty.

Democratic leaders in the senate are counting on a split in the republican party at the Chicago convention to bring about ratification of the peace treaty this summer, it was learned. These democrats think the republicans will divide on the proposition of making the treaty an issue in the campaign, and that G. O. P. leaders will hasten to secure compromise ratification to remove the cause of the split.

The democratic leaders say they have made a painstaking survey of the situation. As a result they express conviction that the following forecast of events is justified. This is how the democrats see it:

(1) The present effort at ratification will fail through a combination of republican "bitter enders" and democrats against the Lodge reservation of ratification.

(2) The republican "bitter enders" will go to the Chicago convention and fight for a plank in the platform opposing any American participation in the league of nations.

(3) They will be defeated and bolt the convention and the party to carry the issue of their own making to the country.

(4) This split in the party will force Senator Lodge and his supporters to submit a compromise to which democratic senators can agree as a means of getting the treaty ratified this summer and out of the campaign.

In the course of the inquiry by leading democrats on which the forecast was based, Senator Hitchcock had a long talk with Senator Borah, leader of the "bitter enders." Hitchcock asked Borah what he intends to do at the convention with respect to the treaty. Borah said he would fight for a plank expressing his views on the league.

"And after the convention?" Hitchcock asked.

"I don't know," Borah replied. "But no matter what the convention does, the issue as I see it, will be presented to the people if I have to do it alone."

The issue as Borah sees it, is unqualified rejection of the league covenant.

Another phase of the investigation by democratic leaders was a poll of democratic senators on which the forecast was based. The inquiry established, leading democrats said, that it will be impossible to get sixty-four votes for the treaty so long as the Lodge reservation on article X remains unmodified.

In reply to the democratic forecasts, republican senators said today the democratic leaders are trying to bolster themselves up with impossible hopes.

THREE CHILDREN DEAD WHEN THEIR HOME BURNS

By United Press Leased Wire

New York.—Joseph Mager, 5 years old, his brother Benjamin, 2, and sister Josephine, one, were burned to death when fire destroyed their home in the outskirts of the city early today. Their parents had left the house early to do farm work.

Three other children of Antonio Newthek were rescued from the burning building by neighbors who broke down the doors.

Falls 5 Miles In Plane; To Try It Again

By United Press Leased Wire
Dayton, O.—"I'll make it the next time."

Undaunted by the narrowest of narrow escapes from death when his airplane fell five miles after breaking all altitude records, Major R. W. Schroeder, test pilot at the McCook experimental field here, today said he was only waiting for his frozen eyeballs to return to normal before again attempting to reach a height of 49,000 feet.

The major is officially credited with attaining a height of 36,020 feet in his flight here yesterday. While at a height of approximately 37,000 feet his oxygen supply gave out and he was rendered unconscious. The machine hurtled through the rarified atmosphere for fully five miles. It was estimated. The gas tank by the sudden change of the low pressure area to the heavier atmosphere below.

Schroeder regained consciousness when the machine was about two miles above the earth and he managed to regain control and affect a landing. He was unconscious in his seat when rescued.

At the hospital it was said he had suffered no permanent injury.

EQUITY MEMBERS ARE LIABLE FOR DEBTS

WISCONSIN SOCIETY OF EQUITY
CANNOT BE SURE, ATTOR-NEY GENERAL AS-SERTS

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Madison.—That members of the Wisconsin State Union American Society of Equity are liable for debts incurred by the executive board of the society is the opinion of Attorney General Blaine to J. B. Houston, secretary-treasurer of the Wisconsin National union. The opinion is based upon a decision of the state supreme court which held that the Wisconsin union was a mere voluntary association and an action to enforce any liability it may have incurred must be brought against the individual members.

"I also find that the state union," says the attorney general, "being neither organized under our statutes nor incorporated, is a mere voluntary association, and action to enforce any liability it may have incurred must be brought against the individual members thereof, who are personally liable for the obligations contracted by or through the state union."

"A very recent decision has been made by the supreme court of the state of Wisconsin involving the very question you ask. That case is the case of Crawley vs. American Society of Equity, 153 Wis. 13. In that case the supreme court holds that the American Society of Equity (national union) is not liable for obligations or debts contracted by the state union."

"The court further holds: 'The Wisconsin union is a mere voluntary association and an action to enforce any liability it may have incurred must be brought against the individual members thereof.'"

"The court further held that the Wisconsin state union as such has no standing in court, and that the court is powerless to recognize it, for the reason that cannot be sued in its association name. The court said: 'When sued in its association name the members thereof, or any of them, could stay out of court, and appeal especially and have the action dismissed for lack of jurisdiction of the members who alone could be sued or appear generally and litigate the merits.'"

"The court further held that the board of directors cannot appear in the capacity of society but can appear in their individual capacity as members."

"Further quoting from the decision, the court said: 'That the liability of members of a voluntary association for the debts thereof incurred during their membership and contracted for association purposes is joint and several, is sustained by Vadeau v. Ballou, 151 Wis. 577, and the cases there cited.'"

"The case to which I refer was brought before the supreme court at the January, 1915, term, and it stands as law of this state with respect to the status of American Society of Equity and the state union."

MINNESOTA EDITORS OPPOSE NON-PARTISANS

By United Press Leased Wire

Minneapolis.—Resolutions denouncing the national non-partisan league and declaring political war on the organization were being framed today for presentation to the convention of the Minnesota Editorial Association. The resolutions committee was to report later today. More than 300 editors and publishers attending the convention applauded an address yesterday by Harry Curran Wilbur, St. Paul newspaperman, in which he denounced the league.

"Americanism and community service" were the themes of speakers today. Patriotism was the keynote of a banquet last night.

Shop talk interspersed the program today. Cost problems of the production and particularly the print paper situation, were discussed. The election of officers and selection of the place for next year's convention were scheduled for this afternoon.

Miss Rose Schwartz of Two Rivers is visiting friends here today.

OIL LEASING BILL WILL CUT LIVING COSTS, LANE AVERS

SECRETARY OF INTERIOR BE-LIEVES PRODUCTION WILL BE INCREASED BY NEW LAW

OPENS UP MUCH OIL LAND

Immense Oil and Mineral Resources
Will Be Thrown Open For Use
Under Control of Government—Royalties
Must Be Paid

By United Press Leased Wire

Secretary Lane, who recently resigned from the interior department, in the following article shows how the average man will be affected by the general leasing bill, or oil leasing bill as it is more commonly known.

(By Franklin Lane)

(Secretary of the Interior)

Washington.—The general leasing bill just approved by President Wilson should be a vital factor in decreasing living costs throughout the United States through its influence on the prices of the basic necessities, coal, oil, gas and phosphates for fertilizer. Production of these raw materials will be vastly increased as a result of the throwing open of millions of acres of public lands made possible by the law.

Under the law, any citizen of the United States or of any country which extends reciprocity to the United States may prospect upon lands described in the law and upon discovery, secure a lease which will entitle him to remove from these lands mineral wealth they now contain in return for a royalty paid to the United States.

This royalty ranging in rate from five per cent upward, is expected to range between $9,000,000 and $10,000,000 a year to the government.

Under the law, mineral lands thrown open to prospectors include 6,000,000 acres of possible oil lands, 40,000,000 acres of coal lands and 2,500,000 acres of phosphate lands.

Farmers and consumers thus are indirectly interested in the law. Phosphate now is selling at unheard of prices, which makes an unusual burden for the farmer to carry. He must pass this burden along to the consumer in living prices for his products.

The demand for oil for months has exceeded production. This has increased the price in an unusual degree. Gasoline, also has gone up in price in an unusual degree, partly as a result of the increased price of oil. An increase in oil production, therefore, should tend to reduce the price, not only of oil itself, but of gasoline, which will reduce delivery and trucking costs and in turn have a general tendency to reduce living costs.

The opening to development and use of the vast areas of coal will particularly affect that part of the United States west of the Mississippi river by providing a supply of fuel for local and long distance use, and affording an opportunity for manufacturing, including development of iron and steel resources of the west. The act is a radical departure from the old mining laws, in that it retains the title to the lands and deposits to the United States but gives the developers an opportunity to work without the large initial investment necessary to buy the lands or deposits, and pay for them on a royalty basis as production occurs, while at the same time the government retains such a measure of control as will tend to prevent waste, improper mining and withholding the resources from use. Inquiries received in the interior department show great activity in initiating claims under the new law and instructions as to procedure now are being prepared in the department to be promulgated as soon as possible.

PERJURY CHARGE AGAINST COUNSEL FOR KIDNAPERS

(By M. D. Tracy)

By United Press Leased Wire

Toronto, Ont.—Issuance of a warrant for arrest on a charge of perjury of Attorney Bruce Stevenson of defense council in the Bisbee deportation trial caused the greatest sensation of the trial here today. The warrant is based on testimony Stevenson gave yesterday regarding a conversation he alleged he had with William Beaton and wife.

Both Beaton and his wife swore that Stevenson had not visited them and that no such conversation took place.

Stevenson's testimony was given during impeachment proceedings brought by the defense against two temporary jurors whose Americanism was attacked.

MILWAUKEE MEN CALLED TO HEARING ON PRICES

By United Press Leased Wire

Milwaukee.—Eight Milwaukee manufacturers and distributors of food have been subpoenaed to appear at the first public hearing of the market division at the city hall Monday morning, to be examined regarding prices in their lines of business.

This will be the first big step in the state's drive on high prices. Names will not be divulged until the hearing opens.

Alvin C. Reis, council for the marketing department, today said the attorney general will co-operate in the hearing.

Miss Anna Frahm submitted to an operation at St. Elizabeth hospital yesterday for appendicitis.

HIGHS WIN FROM STURGEON BAY IN A LISTLESS GAME

SOFT PICKING TAKES SNAP OUT OF PLAYERS AND THEY PUT UP POOR EXHIBITION

Appleton highs wound up the home season with a 42 to 6 victory over Sturgeon Bay in a ragged and uninteresting game. Coach Vincent used thirteen men, taking the regulars out one by one shortly before the first half.

The highs played rotten ball, and it looks as tho all the bad stuff is out of their systems for the Oshkosh tourney next week.

Briese was back in the game at forward. Kubitz was out because of illness in the family, and Wood started the contest at guard. Dunn, at Center, Jacobson at forward, and Showalter, guard, completed the Appleton line-up.

The locals, even with the second string men, had little difficulty in trimming the visitors. Sturgeon Bay was held to two baskets and two free throws. Jacobson started the scoring and the highs ran up thirteen points before Sturgeon Bay counted with a free throw by Anderson. The first half ended 24 to 3, with Bloomer and Johnson going in shortly before the close.

The entire second team was on the floor for Appleton after the opening of the second period. Bondi, Zussman and Courtney were all given a whirl at the forward positions. Bonini went in a center, and Voigt and Jens had a chance at guard. The scrubs did almost as well as the first team, scoring eighteen and holding the visitors to three points, a basket by Gobert, and a free throw by Stedman.

Briese led in the scoring, tossing in six ringers. Jacobson got two field goals and two free throws, and Courtney and Wood each contributed two baskets.

The usual pop from the side-lines was missing. The rooters merely rolled when the visitors scored, which was seldom. The game was slow, and the passing ragged. Both teams fouled repeatedly.

Cabby Ewers did the officiating.

INTERLAKES WIN FROM COLLEGIANS

ST. NORBERT COLLEGE BASKETEERS TAKEN INTO CAMP BY MILLMEN SCORE 44 TO 19

Appleton Interlakes had little difficulty in trimming St. Norbert college basketball team at the armory Friday night. The final score was 44 to 19.

The victors took the lead at the start and were never headed. The Catholics were badly handicapped by the superior size of the mill team, but put up a hard fight.

Plato, center for the locals, tossed in six baskets. Day and Ahlquist held down the forward positions, with Bunks and Kessler at guard. Gregory and Rock played part of the game at center and guard respectively.

Two Appleton boys, Norbert Butler and Harold Fountain, were included in the collegians' line-up. Fountain started for the visitors.

The Interlakes will play the Green Bay Turners at the Bay city tonight.

NEENAH DEFEATS SISTER CITY IN 3 TO 2 GAME

Neenah highs defeated Menasha, 3 to 2, at the Twin City armory Friday night. Both teams played defensive ball throughout, and not a single point was registered in the second half. Menasha started the scoring early in the game, but Neenah came back with a free-throw. Shortly before the whistle, Neenah tossed in a basket, putting her in the lead by a single point.

A huge crowd saw the game, and splendid school spirit was shown on both sides. Both teams played fast and snappy ball, but neither took any chances.

DRY COMMISSIONER TELLS HOW LIQUOR MAY BE OBTAINED

FRIENDSHIP OF DOCTOR WILL BE OF LITTLE AVAIL IN SECURING OCCASIONAL NIP

Thomas A. Delaney, Green Bay, federal prohibition director has prepared a statement which tells how liquor may be obtained. A copy of the statement has been received here. According to Mr. Delaney's interpretation of the law, even a physician is hemmed in by numerous restrictions in dispensing liquors containing a kick.

Druggists, physicians, dentists, hospital attendants, veterinarians, and operators of industrial plants conducting a "first aid service" are the only persons who may use alcohol in their business. Wines for use in churches may only be procured on permit from the prohibition director. In no case may any one use alcohol for beverage purposes.

The statement of Director Delaney containing a digest of the federal prohibition law is: "A druggist, who desires to use non-beverage alcohol in compounding medicines, and for sale medicated in quantities of one pint or less, must file a bond in the penal sum of $1,000 with the prohibition director, who will issue a permit for such use and sale."

"A druggist, who has a permit for the use and sale of non-beverage alcohol with a bond in the penal sum of $1,000.00 or over, and desires to fill physicians' prescriptions for liquors, must procure a retail liquor dealer's license in addition to such permit. This so-called 'Government License' and was formerly paid yearly by all druggists in the amount of $25.00."

"A physician who wishes to prescribe liquors for medicinal purposes in his practice must first make application and secure a permit to prescribe from the federal prohibition director."

"A physician may secure a permit under which he may purchase not to exceed six (6) quarts of alcohol or liquor during a calendar year to be used in compounding medicine and to be administered to patients in emergency, upon filing application with the federal prohibition director."

"A physician who compounds all of his own medicines, necessitating the use of a greater quantity than six (6) quarts during a year, is required to file a bond in order to secure a permit covering such use."

"Under the prohibition Act a physician is not allowed to dispense or sell any intoxicating liquors. He may only prescribe them, use them in compounding medicines, or administer them in cases of emergency."

"A dentist may secure non-beverage alcohol for office use in sterilizing instruments and other similar non-beverage purposes, but cannot procure, administer or prescribe liquors."

"Veterinarians may secure permit under which they may purchase and use non-beverage alcohol for sterilizing instruments and compounding medicines, but they may not sell or dispense such alcohol."

"Hospitals may secure permit covering the use of non-beverage alcohol, liquors and wines. Liquors and wines may be administered to patients at such hospital only upon prescription of a physician."

"Persons conducting industrial establishments, where a First Aid Service is maintained for employees may obtain a permit covering the use of liquors for medicinal purposes in such first aid service."

"Permits may be secured for the use of alcohol in quantities necessary for legitimate laboratory purposes, such as industrial, chemical and scientific, and in manufacturing and technical processes and operations, provided that the use thereof is strictly non-beverage."

"Wines for use in sacramental and religious church rites may be secured by the head of the congregation upon filing application, certified by the federal prohibition director, to purchase with a dealer who is qualified to sell such wines."

ROSEBUSH DEFINES THREE ATTRIBUTES FOR HUGE SUCCESS

YOUNG MEN ARE URGED TO FIT THEMSELVES FOR MORE THAN ORDINARY SUCCESS

The newest form of practical service by the Y. M. C. A. took shape last evening in the holding of the first annual Wisconsin Older Boys' Life Work conference. Delegates are here from several Wisconsin cities, most of them leaders in the state Y. M. C. A. work, or leaders in their home associations. Assistance in choosing a vocation is the aim of the conference and the plan is meeting with exceptional results.

The conference opened with a banquet at which Judson G. Rosebush of this city was the principal speaker. C. E. Ford, boys' secretary of the Milwaukee association and a graduate of Lawrence college, presided. An address of welcome to the young men from other cities was given by William Buchanan, president of the local H. Y. club. Gamber Tegtmeyer of Milwaukee, state president of the H. Y., responded, expressing his appreciation to Appleton for entertaining the conference, and making much of the value of friendship, especially when friends are apart.

The address of Mr. Rosebush on "Some Elements of Success" was an inspiring appeal to the young men, who are mostly seniors in high school, to fit themselves for something more than ordinary success. He stated that there are two kinds of success, the ordinary, which most people attain before they die, and conspicuous success.

of his qualifications, that of how a man uses his surplus, or in other words, his talents, time, or money. Mentioning two of the great men of wealth, Marshall Field and Andrew Carnegie, he evoked a striking comparison. Field was described as a man who put his mass of wealth into a trust fund to be divided among his children. Carnegie gave away much of his money while he was alive. He knew how to use for the good of the public that which he had accumulated, and in a way that Marshall Field had never dreamed of. The widow who gave her mite as referred to in the Bible was referred to as an example of success, because that gift brought her blessings for the rest of her days. After the death of Russell Sage, he further illustrated. Mrs. Sage began to achieve conspicuous success. "If we can do something of supreme service with the talents we have," Mr. Rosebush concluded, "we have not hold of one of the things that make for conspicuous success."

Following his address, Mr. Rosebush dwelt in detail on the merits of the different professions as he saw them. Banking was named as the premier position in business. Of the professions, medicine held a striking place, especially the work of a medical missionary. Teaching was lauded as a tremendous chance to mold lives and he pronounced Richard T. Fly, professor of economics of the University of Wisconsin as the most prominent citizen of the state, because of the great thinkers he had turned out. Social service and efficiency management such as Frank Shattuck is doing for Kimberly-Clark company, Y. M. C. A. work and the clergy were also mentioned among the most desirable for the achievement of conspicuous success. Most of all, he said was the need of the spirit of the Master to keep men from heading in wrong.

SHAWANO MAY BUY POWER FROM LOCAL TRACTION COMPANY

SPECIAL ELECTION PROBABLY WILL BE CALLED TO CON-SIDER SALE OF CITY
PLANT

Electric light and power lines of the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power company may soon be extended to include the city of Shawano if that city accepts the proposition of the local company to furnish current. The matter is now being considered by the city council and it is probable a special election will be held to determine the matter finally. According to information from Shawano, the traction company offers to purchase the Shawano municipal plant at a price, to be fixed by the present lines to Shawano and sell direct to the patrons.

Shawano has asked the company to state its terms for furnishing power to the Shawano switchboard and permit the city to retail it. The matter has been referred to the traction company's board of directors. A. K. Ellis, superintendent of the local company, recently conferred with the Shawano authorities and the matter was discussed from every angle.

Shawano apparently is pleased with the power possibilities offered by the Appleton company. The company's ownership of Gardiner Falls in Langlade county which may be developed within the next few years, assures an ample power supply when connected with the combination steam and water plant at Appleton. Other companies bidding for the Shawano contract are said to be water power concerns and as a result their service is subject to interruptions when water conditions are not entirely favorable.

died here Thursday night of fright. She was accosted by a man who insisted he accompany her home. Mrs. Fox and daughter of 12 entered the city hall to escape the man. Here Mrs. Fox fainted. She was placed in the police ambulance and taken to her home, but when physicians arrived they found the woman dead. The police have arrested Haig Jigarszelan and the police assert he has been identified by the daughter. Jigarszelan asserts he did not accost the woman.

MUST FILE REPORTS BY NEXT MONDAY

Did you fill out your income tax blank today? If not, better get at it this evening and get it in the mail at once, because Monday is the dead line on the filing of state returns. Every single person whose income is $700 a year or over, and every married person earning $1,000 or more is required to fill out a return to be mailed to A. C. Rule, county assessor of income.

OSHKOSH LAUGHS AT APPLETON ELECTION

BUT SAWDEST CITY IS GETTING RESTLESS AND WANTS TO TRY SOMETHING ELSE, TOO.

Oshkosh is trying to poke fun at Appleton about its election on the managerial government, but while one of the knackers analyzes the municipal upheaval of one fair city, the rest of them are out knocking their own system and organizing a move to hold an election along similar lines in Oshkosh. They evidently think Appleton has a rather dissatisfied lot of people, but the desire for something better does not seem to have occurred to Mr. Knocker. He wants Appleton to stick up a nothing new, and it is supposed that as soon as we find it, they will try it out for themselves.

The following is an article that appeared in Thursday's issue of The Northwestern, headed "Let Appleton Try It."

An Oshkosh business man who was interested in the election held at Appleton, in which the proposition of adopting the managerial form of municipal government was defeated in favor of the present aldermanic form, said today: "I guess the group at Appleton that is trying to knock out the present form will have to put their heads together and work out some other system of government and put that up for the voters to shoot at. They didn't like the aldermanic form at Appleton and got the people to vote for the commission form of administering affairs. The change was made but after the people tried the commission, plan a while they got sick of it and took a vote, with the result that they went back to the old aldermanic way of doing business. Then the voters got busy again and worked up sentiment for the city manager plan but they failed to win. Perhaps they could get the state legislature to pass a law providing for some other new plan for running a city and take a vote on it. I guess Appleton has about run out of material on the subject and will have to attempt something else if the legislature can invent something new to try out."

B. A. SINNEN QUILTS LOCAL NEWSPAPER

BUSINESS MANAGER OF POST
PUBLISHING CO. RESIGNS—
WORKED FOR COMPANY
25 YEARS

B. A. Sinnenn, business manager of the Post Publishing company for eight years, has resigned his position. It was announced yesterday. The resignation becomes effective April 1. Mr. Sinnenn has not completed his plans for the future.

Mr. Sinnenn entered the newspaper business via the press room. He began his career as a carrier boy 25 years ago and then entered the bindery department. Within a short time he worked his way to the top and had charge of the bindery for four years. When E. P. Humphrey, then business manager of the Post, succeeded the late Alex Reid as managing editor, Mr. Sinnenn assumed charge of the business office.

During the eight years that he had charge of the company's business affairs and of the mechanical department The Appleton Post more than doubled its circulation and became one of the most widely read newspapers published in a city the size of Appleton anywhere in the middle west, and he played a very important part in its growth.

WORK HARD IN COUNTY TO BOOM RELIEF DRIVE

There were practically no new contributions reported to the Near East Relief headquarters in the City Hall Friday, but plenty of work is being done in the county to swell the total, which had not reached the $10,000 mark. The report that is awaited with greatest interest is that from the Equity society and the granges. The meeting at which the campaign among the farmers was organized was held somewhat later than that of other organizations, and the solicitation has therefore progressed more slowly. It is hoped by the committee that the reports early next week will send Outagamie County "over the top."

DISTRICT MEETING OF INSURANCE AGENTS HERE

Agents of the Inter-Ocean-Casualty company of this district meet with George Carley, Appleton, district agent, at Knights of Columbus hall this afternoon.

Company representatives from Minnesota, Birmingham, Shawano and other cities, numbering about 25 men in all, will be present. W. G. Alpaugh, secretary of the company, will be here for the meeting.

SHORT NOTES

Miss Adeline Kramer has returned from New York.
Miss Emma Klucheski of New London is visiting Appleton friends.
Orville Babcock and two sons of Neenah are visiting Edward Gorrow, Superior street.

Dr. W. E. O'Keefe left this morning for Chicago where he will spend a few days on business.

Miss Mayme Murphy who has been visiting at Milwaukee for about a month has returned here.
Among the Menasha visitors here Friday were W. Turner, H. C. Steidl and Mrs. Gregory Lenz.

A. T. Jense, proprietor of the Arcade, has installed a big electric sign on the outside of the building.

Mrs. J. Zeeryp of Muskegon, Mich., is visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. B. L. Schmidt, 518 Cherry St.
The choir of First Methodist church will meet at the church for rehearsal at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning.

Clifford Green had his right hand badly cut while adjusting a stove pipe Thursday morning. The pipe fell, striking Green on the hand.

Misses Iva Schultz and Pao Eberhardt teachers in the Shiocton schools, are spending the week end here with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Eberhardt, 658 Meade street.
Mrs. A. F. Huettl and daughter, Miss Annabelle Huettl of Gresham spent Friday in Appleton, the daughter going to St. Elizabeth hospital for treatment, and the mother spending the day as a guest of Mrs. H. G. Schweger, 424 Washington street.

TOWN AND VILLAGE TREASURERS PAY UP

State and special taxes are now coming in rapidly to the county treasurer's office at the courthouse. They are being forwarded by the treasurers of the various towns villages and cities. referring to the men who stand out from the masses like a mountain in the midst of a plain.

"No man can be conspicuously successful," the speaker stated, unless he has achieved ordinary success. On that basis, he achieves conspicuous success." He illustrated his idea of ordinary success by referring to the application of a bonding house for information on which to base the issuing of a personal bond. That a man must be honest, industrious, of good character, thrifty and of good habits was contended by Mr. Rosebush in achieving the success that comes to the ordinary business or professional man who makes a comfortable living, owns his home, and is held in high regard in his community.

"On the other hand," continued the speaker, "there are three outstanding characteristics of conspicuous success. Men have one or more of them to a greater or less degree, and some have been wonderfully blessed with all three." The first mentioned was the power of analysis, or the ability to break up a situation into its component parts. "On the ability to analyze yourself," he said, "depends a great deal of your success. Otherwise you would be a 'round peg in a square hole' and instead of being in the work where you could play for first place, you would be in second place." He used as an illustration the fact that it took four years for England to find out that she must fight unified command with unified command, and America had to analyze the situation for her.

Initiative was named as the second qualification to achieve outstanding success, and applied it not only to the ability to get into a situation but to get out as well, for oftentimes it becomes necessary to use the latter power. "The man who is going to stand out as a conspicuous leader," remarked Mr. Rosebush, "must get out and lead. You will find as you study the lives of great men that somewhere along the line they have gone through the valley of shadow in business, and that success has come to them after that calling period had passed, showing that the ability to get out of a situation is needed as well as to get in it."

in attendance were W. H. ("Daddy") Wones, state boys' secretary, Milwaukee; E. W. Brandenburg, state high school secretary, Milwaukee; O. C. Artman, and S. P. Jones, district secretaries, Madison; C. E. Ford, boys' secretary, Milwaukee; Ray Sowers, state student secretary, Milwaukee; A. D. Abernathy county secretary, Chippewa Falls; A. C. Preston, boys' secretary, Janesville; R. L. Cushing, community service, Milwaukee.

Beside the Appleton young men attending, there are the following delegates:

Leon Griffey, Janesville; Henry Cohn, Milwaukee; Russell Porter, Milwaukee; Richard Spiers, Eau Claire; Gamber X. Tegtmeyer, Milwaukee; Edwin L. Yates, Milwaukee; Theodore Roberts, Beloit; Donald Cooley, Watonsa; Alex Barr and Fred K. Prosser, West Allis; Dean Marshall and John Cannon, Milwaukee; Wallace Stoker, Eau Claire; R. L. Cushing, Milwaukee; Arnold Jarvis, Eau Claire; George Wizers and Myron Black, Kaukauna; Warren Tuft, Louis Nuesse, F. H. Trocmorton and Walter Koch, Milwaukee.

RAISE $26,000 TO PAY INTEREST ON ROAD BONDS

Following the passage of resolutions favoring the bond issue of $48,000 to be used in completing the two miles of the Appleton-Seymour road which was graded last summer and the transfer of $127,000 from the general fund to the county, state road and bridge committee to be used by it in competing unfinished work, two other appropriations were made yesterday by the county board just before it adjourned. One was for $12,000 for interest on the new bond issue which will fall due next October, no provision having been made for the same, and the other was for $14,000 interest on bonds already issued.

The prime essentials for a small poultry house are fresh air, dryness, sunlight and space enough to keep the birds comfortable. The fowls should also have as much outside space as possible to run in.

EFFICIENCY IS AIM IN CONTEST FOR BOYS

BOYS' BRIGADE MEMBERS GIVEN
CREDIT FOR EFFICIENT
WORK IN HOME, SCHOOL AND CHURCH

Members of the Boys' Brigade have started a personal efficiency campaign contest, beginning Feb. 23 and ending May 1. The boys are marked according to their attendance and efficiency in drill. Each boy is also given four cards on which he keeps his own score. On one card he keeps record of the number of points he gains by being regular in Sunday School attendance. On a second card he keeps record of his mental efficiency. By reading the chapter on health in the Handbook for Boy Scouts or Pioneers he gains 40 points. By being a regular reader of an approved young peoples' magazine and by efficiency in his school work he gains other points. On the third card he keeps record of his physical efficiency by helping with the family work or expense, by earning and depositing money in a local bank, and by returning home promptly after drill. On the fourth or physical card each boy keeps a record of the number of points he gains by keeping regular hours of retiring and rising, sleeping with open window, drinking a glass of water upon rising, cleaning the teeth daily, going without candy, ice cream sodas for a month, hiking 25 miles during this period.

At the conclusion of the contest the brigade will have a banquet at which the winners will be announced and the prizes awarded.

About the middle of May the competition drill with the Neenah brigade will be held. One day the brigade will go to Neenah for a demonstration drill and the next day the Neenah brigade will come to Appleton for the same purpose. After the demonstration the work of the brigade will be mostly out of doors, learning principles of first aid and hiking and camping. Then in the summer the boys will go to their camp for the summer outing at Chain O'Lakes.

MR. TAFT SEES THE FACTS.

Speaking in Chicago Thursday evening Former President Taft said the difference between the two parties on the peace treaty is largely one of verbal nicety and authorship. "There is no substantial difference between the two parties," he declared. Mr. Taft is an impartial observer. He is an honest advocate of the league of nations. He holds that reservations are not necessary, but he does not object to reasonable reservations being made a condition of ratification. In other words, Mr. Taft is sincerely for this plan to prevent wars and to enforce peace. He has not been troubled by a desire to secure party advantage or personal prestige out of the consideration and disposition of this great question.

The truth of what Mr. Taft says with reference to the pettiness of the controversy in the senate between men and parties is well illustrated in every day's debate of the treaty. For instance, in the discussion the other day of Mr. Lodge's fourth reservation the senator from Massachusetts himself offered a number of amendments, inserting a word here and removing a word there. Objections to the proposed changes were made by a number of senators, and after a stormy controversy the reservation was left in its original shape. It was plainly just common horseplay over the difference between twiddle-dee and twiddle-dum. This is practically true of the dispute between Mr. Lodge and Mr. Hitchcock concerning reservations to article 10. It is actually true of the differences over nearly every other reservation in the Lodge program. Many of the reservations are solely verbal niceties, which differ in no essential respect from the original form of the covenant.

If we had a statesman at the head of affairs in the senate like Mr. Taft the treaty would long ago have been disposed of. Real statesmen go into the substance of things and do not haggle long over verbiage. The trouble with the senate is that it is dying to throw the treaty into the campaign but is afraid to. The politicians on both sides are fearful of being assessed with the responsibility for a course which they know is indefensible.

A CHANGING RUSSIA.

Russia is gradually coming to its senses. The millennium which was to be ushered in by bolshevism has not come to pass. Soviet government has discovered that it cannot be a law unto itself, ignoring the existence of the rest of the world and repudiating international obligations. One of the first acts of the Lenin regime was to cancel with a stroke of the pen the indebtedness contracted by Russia largely with the United States to carry on the war. Bolshevism defied the world, drew a line of exclusion about its territorial limits, and proceeded to lift itself by its own boot straps. Doctrines which were utterly destructive of national existence and which were subversive of all of the fundamental bases of civilization touching the home, personal liberty, religion, property and civil rights were put into effect. Chaos reigned and Russia was isolated from all other nations.

Slowly but surely, it seems, Russia is being cured by her own medicine. The fallacy of a nation, as well as of an individual, attempting to live without responsibilities or obligations and in defiance of the rights of others is beginning to dawn upon the miracle workers at the head of the fantastic soviet. Russia is now proposing to the powers the establishment of democratic principles, and the calling of a constituent assembly for the future government of that nation. This is a complete surrender of bolshevism. It is a retreat from the creeds of Lenin and Trotsky. On top of this soviet government promises to withdraw the decree annulling Russia's foreign debt, to restore 60 per cent of the liability and to pay arrears of interest. It offers even to go to the extent of guaranteeing the fulfillment of its obligation with valuable mining concessions to an Anglo-American syndicate.

These proposals are put forward as a condition of peace, in which the United States is asked to extend further credit conditioned on concessions in that country, and upon the agreement of Great Britain and other countries to abandon intervention in Russian affairs. How these overtures will terminate, is a matter for conjecture, but they indicate the fact that Russia is undergoing a deep and significant change. It may be too much to hope that within the coming year a state of peace will be brought about not only internally but with the powers, which will set Russia on the way to rehabilitation along sound political and economic lines. If we are to judge by indications she is being driven to these results by her own follies and excesses. When Russia is ready to settle down to something like orderly and responsible government it will be received by the other countries and accorded proper recognition, together with resumption of commercial and political relations. The problem seems much nearer solution than it did a few months ago.

ENFORCING PROHIBITION.

More is known about the "Michigan rum rebellion" now than was apparent when the first reports of this incident were published. The press took it for granted on the basis of stories from Iron River that there was an actual collision of authority between the officers of the state and the representatives of the federal government charged with enforcement of prohibition. This was not strictly true. The fighting prosecuting attorney of Iron River took the ground that there could be no interference by federal prohibition agents in the affairs of that community, except upon warrants. In other words, he held that arrests and searches could be made only by due process of law. This did not represent an issue between the state and federal authorities on the question of prohibition enforcement. It compassed only the legal question as to the constitutional rights of citizens. This Michigan community did not defy prohibition enforcement. That would have been a totally different matter, and there could have been only one result, namely, the surrender of state or local resistance.

It turns out that the Iron River case establishes an important precedent with regard to prohibition enforcement. It sets up the principle that there shall be no more liquor raids or arrests without warrants duly issued. This means that federal agents and investigators cannot be turned into inquisitors with arbitrary powers to go into the home or place of business in search of liquor. The home is to be protected against invasion by suspicious or meddlesome officers. The rights of citizens to security in their homes and places of business are made secure. Only by due process of law, which is the application for and granting of an order or warrant, can searches, seizures and arrests be made.

Strange to say, the test which was to bring about this settled policy of the government was made in the little mining town of Iron River. In great cities like Chicago and New York ruthless and arbitrary methods for discovering violations of the prohibition act were being constantly practiced. It took the fight of an obscure northern prosecutor to bring into national recognition undoubted constitutional rights of the people which the prohibition wave was ignoring and trampling under foot. Hereafter we shall have prohibition enforcement toned down to a legal and salutary basis. The privacy and security of a home are not to be despoiled. All of which is as it should be. Constitutional guarantees and immunities are of far greater importance than prohibition. The attempt to reverse the order has met with the failure and rebuke it deserved.

QUANTITY CHANGES QUALITY

A fact usually or always forgotten by those who contend that alcohol in any quantity is intoxicating and harmful and therefore properly to be prohibited, is this: Mere increase of amount sometimes, and not infrequently produces, not an increase of the same effects, but a complete change in the effects. This is true of almost all the drugs used in medicine—in the dosage determined by clinical experience they are distinctly beneficial, but if more be taken the consequence is injurious or even fatal. No doctor would dream of abandoning the use of chloroform, or digitalis, or strychnine, or morphine because they are all "poisons" and very deadly ones. To refute a contention that alcohol comes in the same category would be difficult or impossible, and it would be hardly easier to prove that one-half of 1 per cent, by volume is the point at which its harmlessness or utility ceases.

The matter of personal idiosyncrasy also deserves more attention than it receives from the out-and-outers. They will have no hard task in proving that what anybody would admit is "intoxication," follows the drinking of 4 per cent beer by some people. But it can be shown that there are people for whom strawberries are poisonous and others eat tomatoes at their peril. Yet both of those fruits are good creatures and the harm they do is not counted against them.—New York Times.

Confessions of a Bride

(Copyright, 1920, by The Newspaper Enterprise Association.)

I Hear Bob is Entombed in the Hacienda by the Earthquake

"Something dreadful has happened to Bob, I know," I continued with a calmness which astonished myself. "And I think, Dr. Spence, that you wanted to get me safely on the yacht with Daddy before you told me. That is now impossible. So please tell me at once. Tell me the truth. Jordan Spence, you don't know me. I will not faint—I will not scream—I will not have hysterics—no matter how dreadful your news may be."

"I am sure you are a brave little woman, Mrs. Lorimer," Spence said, but instead of looking at me while he talked, he looked at Travers, quite helplessly. Even in the midst of my suspense, it occurred to me that men are often curiously helpless in the intimate social relations. Jordan Spence was one of the country's most famous medical men. His reputation had been vastly enhanced by his war experiences. He must have been the bearer of bad news to hundreds of human beings in his time, and nobody could doubt that he had bestowed his honest sympathy as well as his skill upon strangers in need of it. Nevertheless, he was finding it almost impossible to tell me the worst about his friend, my husband.

"Go on. Do not be afraid to tell me everything," I murmured.

"Bob went with Donna Camilla to the secret chamber. That was the last I saw of him. That was after we had found your sister—which is quite another story. Bob and I were always preparing each other for any emergency. He had instructed me to get his sister away from the hacienda without delay. He went with Donna Camilla to the paneled room—where Certeis was hidden."

"And Bob did not return? And you knew—"

"You must have known—that that fierce old woman was ready to kill any American—"

"That is not the fear which tortures me, Mrs. Lorimer. The earthquake reached its climax within five minutes after your husband left us. Your sister-in-law and I were in the auto. We felt the earth tremble—we saw walls crumble about us—we heard the crash of falling roofs—the tower of the old church wavered and flattened out in a mass of sand and gravel. The bells clanged sharply as if they were crying out against their own destruction. Jordan Spence went on, spinning out his words in order to delay telling me the truth about Bob. I shivered and Travers leaned over and pulled a rug closer about me.

"I went over the ruins, Mrs. Lorimer, as soon as the earth was still again. I got a working gang together. We could locate the secret chamber, but we couldn't get into it. The walls still stand, like prison walls, Mrs. Lorimer. That little room with originally a fort, it seems, and made to last forever."

"Don't be frightened, Mrs. Lorimer," broke in Travers. "From what Spence says, I feel sure that Bob is not dead. He is simply immured, with Certeis and the old woman."

"Nobody about the place has the least idea how to get into it," Spence continued. "The quake seemed to have shaken the brains out of the Mexicans. And the earthquake had heaped up mounds of debris all around the secret chamber, so that even Donna Camilla couldn't get out through any of the panels which slide so mysteriously in the walls. I had to abandon my plan to rescue Bob at once. Don't blame me, Mrs. Lorimer. Miss Lorimer's condition was such that I had to get her to the coast and to her father. I decided to make the effort. What disaster followed, you already know. Be assured that as soon as we get ashore, I am going back to the hacienda for your husband."

SALUTING THE GERMAN FLAG

The time is coming soon when the United States must salute the German flag, for peace will be brought about eventually and relations will be resumed with Berlin. Few of us, perhaps, have given thought to this interesting detail, but it is inescapable, for diplomatic amity, restored between two nations, must express itself in the punctilious form of regulations governing international etiquette.

Peace having been concluded between Great Britain and Germany, the British admiralty has ordered that the German national flag must be saluted in accordance with regulations. It may be painful to us as a people, figuratively, to take off our hats to our enemy at a time yet so near to the war, but it is inconceivable that we should continue in a spirit of embitterment and hate toward a fallen foe. Such attitude would be neither morally right nor American. — New York Commercial.

WHEN THE LIMITED COMES IN

I love to watch the people when the Limited comes in. An assorted line of kisses waiting for their kith and kin.

And as the crowd comes through the gates I watch the waiting row And see some dull face kindle to a warm and grateful glow. Exactly as some sudden stake of iron behind the night.

Is suddenly transfigured from a lamp-post to a light. "There he is!" or "Here she comes!" and then a sounding smack.

And twin hands meet together on a bent and rounded back. Till I am almost envious and ready to insist That some loving delegation should include me in its list.

Then off they go together, with a breathless "How're you been?"

And "It's good to see them, when the Limited comes in."

And when, in time, I'm ticketed, as all shall be some day.

On that through line whose Limiteds all seem to run one way.

As I approach that long, long line, that silent, waiting row

And feel my sick heart sink because there's no one there I know.

As I slip past The Gatekeeper, as the passengers

O surely some one angel-face will pop up with a grin.

O surely one will flutter and grab my grip and speak:—

"Come on, old top; you're awful late; I've been here for a week."

The folks are waiting for you, every one you've ever known;

They thought they'd play it on you, so they cent me down alone.

There's heaps and heaps to tell you, and I'm aching to begin.

But say, it's anxious waiting, when the Limited comes in!"

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Saturday, March 2, 1895.

Joseph Morant, formerly city editor of the Crescent, had accepted a position as professor of literature and political science in a Catholic college just outside of the city of New Orleans.

Petitions for two new postoffices in Outagamie county were forwarded to the postal department at Washington, D. C. One postoffice was to be located at Batley and the other at Wittlin.

Wells, Richert & Co. were preparing a proposition to build a system of waterworks for the city of Kaukauna.

On account of falling on Sunday it was decided to plan no celebration for St. Patrick's day. For several years previous Appleton, Kaukauna, Neenah and Menasha had held joint celebrations.

Henry Maislein was contemplating a trip to his old home in Germany. C. M. Starkweather of the Fond du Lac Commonwealth was an Appleton visitor.

A runaway horse ran into a barbed wire fence near Riverside cemetery and was badly cut.

Fred Peterson drove out to Osborn the previous Monday and found good sleighing all the way. In driving over the road again today he found no snow except an occasional patch in a fence corner.

Miss Alice Waldo had temporary charge of the telephone exchange at Kaukauna on account of Miss McDonough being at home in attendance upon her mother, who was critically ill.

A meeting of the committee in charge of the new fair was held at the council rooms the night previous. Humphrey Pierce acted as chairman and Peter Tubbs, secretary. It was decided to set aside $3,000 for the payment of premiums.

Gas was still continuing to flow from the vein which well drillers struck at Apple Creek while drilling a well.

The Junior Society of Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian church celebrated its second anniversary with an entertainment and social.

W. W. Runkel, clerk in Cook & Son's drug store, entertained friends in honor of his birthday anniversary.

Nightmares

Nightmare is a hallucination of the subconsciousness due to oxygen hunger.

This want of oxygen is but rarely due to insufficient ventilation nowadays. The proportion of oxygen in the air of a room may be reduced, by breathing and rebreathing, from the normal 20 per cent to only 15 per cent before any appreciable discomfort is felt by the occupant of the room, and both crowding and careful exclusion of air would be necessary to reduce the oxygen to that proportion.

Only in the most premeditated circumstances is fresh air so carefully excluded from the sleeping room. There are still a few benighted people who do strive to prevent in every possible way the admission of fresh air to a sleeping room at night. These people are the ones who are likely to be the victims of accidental illuminating or coal gas poisoning.

If the oxygen-carrying capacity of the red blood corpuscles be somewhat diminished, as in mild carbon monoxide gas poisoning, the victim is likely to suffer nightmares. In New England a few years ago a "haunted house" was rid of its "ghosts" by the discovery and repair of a leak in the furnace flue whereby occupants of a certain room were mildly poisoned with carbon monoxide gas and dreamed horrible dreams of ghostly visitors.

A child with nasal obstruction, as by chronic rhinitis or adenoids or very large tonsils, is likely to sleep restlessly and have nightmares.

An individual whose life is sedentary and whose food is about twenty per cent superfluous suffers from suboxidation and is likely to have nightmares after a particularly heavy overload of nourishment.

People who imagine they can keep well and vigorous without daily exercise are likely to have nightmares. Exercise increases the absorption of oxygen.

People who have the "fad," as mollycoddles call it, of sleeping out of doors, are rarely troubled with nightmares, or unpleasant dreams.

A clergyman who is also a university executive recently received visits of his dead wife's spirit—always in the early gray dawn when the clergyman was just in the borderland between sleep and waking—a region wherein our minds often play us queer tricks. There is a medium state—not a spiritualistic medium state necessarily—between consciousness and unconsciousness when we may weave our dreams with actualities and produce some wondrous results. Then, if we are somewhat credulous—well, I would prescribe for this exigency two miles of oxygen three times a day, a remedy which I think would work wonders for some of the cloth.

In fact, that is my prescription for nightmares—two miles of oxygen on the hoof, tres in diem. Amen.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Valuable
I have leakage of the heart. Was taken some time ago but did not know it myself till it was discovered six weeks ago. I suffer no pain but do not do much. If I do too much there is a drawing sensation in my chest. (L. D. L.)

ANSWER—It is impossible for a physician to advise a patient with such a condition unless he has personally examined the patient and studied the functional efficiency of the heart and the other related organs. But I shall be glad to send you a monograph which gives some general advice and information concerning the management of valvular heart disease, if you care to send a stamped addressed envelope for it.

One Queer Notion of Friends

What foods should be advised in a case of Bright's disease? Have been advised to exclude meats. Does this include the grow of same? Some friends tell me not to eat one thing, and some say not to eat something else. I hardly know what I ought to eat. (Mrs. H. J. E.)

ANSWER—Well, one's friends do love to trifle with one's health and life, don't they? If I had Bright's disease, and my friends dropped in to suggest the proper diet I'd consign them to the place which is undoubtedly kept warm for just such friends, and leave that problem entirely to my physician.

Nursing and Weaning

What should the diet of a nursing mother consist of? Do you advise giving calomel? At what part of the month should the baby be weaned? (Mrs. S. C. D.)

ANSWER—A nursing mother should have the same diet which is ordinarily wholesome and which she ordinarily enjoys, but including from a pint to a quart of fresh milk daily besides her ordinary ration. I do not advise giving calomel as a physic. Wean the baby at any time of the month. Send stamped addressed envelope for monograph of instructions.

Profiteering

The Press would lead the Public to believe that the worst profiteers are found amongst the retail grocers.

The Proof of the Pudding is found in the Eating—if this assumption is true, would it not follow that visible evidences would be manifest everywhere?

Do you know of any Retail Grocers in Appleton who have amassed great wealth?

Just because a retail grocer deals in the necessities of life and because it is easy to know the cost price of his goods is it fair to make him "the Goat?"

Let's Be Fair!

LATE BUYING SENDS GRAIN FUTURES UP

STATEMENT THAT PRICES WILL FALL HAS BUT TEMPORARY EFFECT ON THE GRAIN MARKET

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago—Short covering by early sellers caused a sharp rally in grain futures at the close of the Chicago board of trade today. Evidence of a better cash demand and reports of heavy exports in rye aided in the advance.

There was little trading until the last hour when buyers became active. Weakness in the security market caused quotations to drop at the opening. The statement by Bernard M. Baruch, that prices would drop shortly also, caused all futures to sag at the opening but the loss was more than recovered. Provisions closed slightly higher.

Feb. corn closed at $1.44 1/2, after opening at $1.42 1/2, down 1/2. March corn was up 1/2 at the close after opening off 1/4 at $1.42. May corn opened up 1/4 at $1.35 1/2 and later advanced 1/4. July corn was unchanged at the opening $1.29 1/2 and was one cent higher at the close.

May, oats down 1/4 at the opening 79 1/2, closing 1c higher. July oats opened 1/4c lower at 72 and closed 1c higher.

COLLEGE Y. W. C. A. SEEKS SOLUTION TO PROBLEMS

Miss Florence Newcombe, undergraduate field representative of Lake Forest college, Ill., is spending a few days at Lawrence college to bring before the Lawrence Y. W. C. A. girls the three big problems of the Young Women's Christian association this year. She met last night with the cabinet and president at which time the problems were presented.

A meeting of the entire Lawrence association will be held shortly to discuss these problems and formulate solutions. The decisions of the local organization will be presented at the national convention, April 17-24, at Cleveland, Ohio, by Miss Florence Clarke who has been chosen as delegate.

The three problems in question are: The new basis for membership, the financing of the Y. W. C. A. in the future, and the current problems of the industrial girl.

DISCUSS CALLINGS AT LIFE WORK CONFERENCE

Vocational Talks Are Given by Leaders in the Various Professions as Part of State Conference Here

Today's sessions of the Older Boys' Life Work conference, opening with a devotional service at nine o'clock led by Ray Sowers, Milwaukee, state student secretary. Beginning at 9:30 o'clock half hour conferences were conducted. The first dealt with the calling profession in detail and was led by Prof. Lee C. Racey of Lawrence college, the aim being to assist the delegates in deciding whether to enter this calling or not. The discussion of ministry followed, led by John Pedders of Milwaukee. At 10:30 o'clock, W. H. Wones, state secretary, presented the work of the Y. M. C. A. as a life work. L. J. France of Lawrence college conducted the closing conference of the morning on the choice of the foreign missionary field.

The afternoon period from one to three o'clock, which concludes the conference, will be devoted to interviews, in which each young man who wishes further advice will be given an opportunity to talk it over with some of the leaders in religious work or in business.

ATTENDANCE AT STOCK FAIR BEST OF WINTER

The attendance at the regular monthly fair today was the largest it has been during the winter, but was small compared with the average attendance. This was due to the condition of the roads, many of which are still almost impassable. A limited amount of live stock was offered for sale, principally small pigs.

PROGRAM FOR NEXT YEAR'S ARTIST SERIES ARRANGED

At the meeting of the committee of the Appleton Lyceum and Educational Union yesterday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A., a tentative program for next year's lecture and artist's series was prepared. The program will not be announced as it is still subject to change. A representative from the Redpath Lyceum Bureau is expected here next week, and it is probable that several changes will be made then.

ENGLISH CLUB WILL GIVE YEATS PROGRAM

The English club of Lawrence college will have an open meeting Monday night in the old chapel, for all students and Appleton people, for the purpose of attending the presentation of the program which will be the Yeats' play "Cathleen ni Houlihan," to be presented by the members of Prof. W. S. Orl's dramatic class.

The remainder of the program is to about Yeats also. Miss Olga Achtenhausen to speak of the Abbey theatre; Prof. W. B. Lindsay to talk on the poet; and Miss Esther Baldwin to recite two poems.

SLIGHT INCREASES ON STOCK MARKET

PRICES GO UP AS MARKET OPENS BUT CLOSING PRICES SHOW BUT VERY LITTLE CHANGE

By United Press Leased Wire
New York.—The stock market opened firm today with a general upward tendency in prices. Railroad securities showed renewed strength and the big speculative issues also made advances with the exception of Mexican petroleum which opened at 169 off 1/4. U. S. Steel opened at 91, up 1/4; Canadian Pacific 123, up 1/4; New York Central 72 1/2, up 1/4; New Haven 35 1/2, up 1/4; Republic 37, up 1/4; U. S. Stores 66 1/2, up 1/4; Pan American 82, up 1/4; Studebaker 81 1/2 off 1/4; General Motors 24 1/2, up 1/4; American Woolen 119 1/2, up 1/4.

The market closed irregular. The market generally displayed a firm tone in the second hour. During the last half hour there was some selling with U. S. Steel dropping 1/2 point from the early high, but offerings of stock were not large and it was generally held that the market was being made to look much weaker than it really was.

WANT CLOSED SEASON ON MINK AND MUSKRAT

Outagamie county is taking steps to establish a closed season for muskrats and mink the year around, for one year, and petitions being circulated here are being signed liberally.

The move is urged by W. E. Barber of Madison, state conservation commissioner. Sportsmen say that the extermination of the muskrat and mink will result if the law is not passed protecting the animals. Despite the fact that there have been more trappers operating then ever during the past year, the number of catches has been smaller. This shows that the number of rats has dwindled considerably.

YEATS DEVOTES ENERGY TO FREEING THE IRISH

William Butler Yeats, Irish man of letters, whose poetry, plays and essays have won him international fame, will lecture at the Lawrence Memorial Chapel on Friday March 5.

Mr. Yeats is primarily a literary man and by no means a politician, but like everyone who arrives from Ireland, is closely interested in the Irish situation. He says that Ireland in her struggle toward nationalization presents the tragic perspective of three antagonistic forces, each arrayed against the others, and among which there is no common ground for permanent reconciliation—a struggle that will continue indefinitely as long as the Emerald Isle is made the battleground of bitter partisanship, as it is today.

He wishes it to be understood that, while he is a nationalist, he is acutely out of the movement, though he yearns for an early realization of Irish nationalistic aspirations.

ALL GO TO CHURCH ON FIFTH FEBRUARY SUNDAY

Tomorrow will be "Everybody go to church" day in Appleton. For the first time in 40 years, February is blessed with five Sundays, and it will be another forty years before this occurs again. A special program in observance of the day will be held at Methodist church.

In the morning Dr. I. B. Wood, pastor, will preach on "A Great Day and a Great Challenge." He will speak on "A Leap Year Proposal" in the evening.

BEN PARISH RECEIVES PROMOTION IN THE EAST

Ben Parish, formerly district wire chief for the Wisconsin Telephone company, has been made district traffic superintendent of the Pennsylvania company of the American Telephone and Telephone company. He is the son of Mrs. E. P. Parish, Appleton street.

Mr. Parish was in the Pittsburgh office of the company for several months before securing his latest promotion. He has charge of the telephone traffic of a large part of Pennsylvania and his headquarters are at McKeesport. He is a veteran of the Great War.

The longest train on record was that worn by Catherine de Medici on her marriage. It was forty-eight yards long and borne by ten pairs of pages.

The Most Beautiful Car in America

A Car of Beauty and Real Worth

In undertaking to build a six-cylinder motor that would set a new standard for five-passenger cars, we knew that we were assuming a task which could not be completed in a week, a month or even a year.

As a matter of fact, three years were consumed before we were satisfied that our original purpose had been fully achieved.

The verdict which we ourselves rendered has now been confirmed by the judgment of the motorist. Owners of the five-passenger Paige Glenbrook have found its six-cylinder motor not only exceptional in power and speed, but also a revelation in dependability and economy.

The Glenbrook is distinctly a Paige car in beauty as well as mechanical excellence. It was recognized at once as such. And, as an investment value, it is acknowledged to be without equal in the light six field.

NEEDS OF VETERANS MADE KNOWN TO HOME SERVICE WORKERS

QUESTIONNAIRES BRINGS OUT
MUCH INFORMATION OF VAL-UE — ALL REQUESTS ANSWERED

Ex-service men are greatly interested in securing victory buttons and an opportunity to acquire government lands, according to the report of the Home Service section of the Outagamie County chapter of the American Red Cross, in summarizing the result of questionnaires sent out.

With a desire to be of practical service to 2,500 returned service men in this county, questionnaires were mailed out, the object being to assist the men in securing back pay, travel allowance, equipment victory buttons, delayed allotments, liberty bonds, compensation, free medical treatment and other benefits. The returned blanks showed a wide variety of needs.

and those needing medical aid were given first attention.

The following is a summary of the requests: all of which have been taken care of and followed up by letter, telephone or personal call:

875 men were wanting information on how to secure a Victory button.

91 wished blanks to apply for the state bonus.

2 had incorrect discharges.

75 wanted assistance to secure compensation and medical treatment.

31 wanted to take advantage of the state educational bonus.

20 had not yet received Liberty Bonds subscribed for while in service.

10 men had enlisted since the signing of the armistice.

24 men wished further help in securing back allotments not sent to dependents.

180 men wanted blanks filled out for securing extra travel pay.

340 men wanted information regarding government land for ex-service men.

7 men had not applied for the federal bonus.

3 men wanted assistance in securing back pay.

95 men wanted employment.

75 per cent of all service men had not kept up the premium payments on their War Risk Insurance policies, and most of them wanted information on how to be reinstated and many are now reinstating under the more liberal provision of recent rulings.

Ex-service men or women who did not receive a questionnaire are asked to call or write the Home Service Office, First National Bank Building.

CAN ENLIST IN ARMY FOR ONE YEAR PERIOD

A new order received by the local recruiting officers for enlisting men in the Fourth Division, changes the periods of service. Objection was raised to the requirement of three years service in the regular army and this has now been changed so that enlistments in the field artillery of the engineers may be for one year, no previous military training being required. The local recruiting headquarters are at the Sherman house and the campaign for men will be carried on for several days longer. Men enlisting are sent to Camp Dodge, near Des Moines, Ia., for training.

MIKE STEINHAEUSER IS GOING OUT OF BUSINESS

Original Mike Decides to Forsake Grocery Business and Prepares to Sell Out His Stock

"Mike's" Grocery, the "Original Mike", located at 728 College Avenue, is going out of business. Mike Steinhauer, second ward alderman, announced this morning that beginning Monday, he would conduct a sale of his grocery stock preparatory to giving up his grocery business.

Alderman Steinhauer has been one of the prominent grocers of Appleton for the last fifteen years. He was first located on Meade street, and later in the building now occupied by the College Inn. He moved to his present location several years ago.

Mr. Steinhauer stated this morning that he was undecided as to his future plans, although he has several excellent openings in view.

HENRY KREISS NAMED AS DIVORCE COUNCIL

The calendar for the March term of circuit court which opens at the courthouse next Monday gives the name of Henry Kreiss as divorce council. The former divorce council was Judge Bottensek. Attorney H. Kreiss's appointment was made shortly after he retired from the office of county judge. The new court commissioners are Homer H. Benton, L. Hugo Keller, Paul V. Cary, C. J. Jackson, Joseph Koffend, Jr., A. H. Kellogg and Henry Kreiss.

The new commissioners are George F. Fincher of Seymour, who succeeded Peter Tubbs deceased, M. F. Barteau of Appleton and H. J. Mulholland of Kaukauna.

JOHN SIGL PURCHASES PROPERTY ON AVENUE

John Sigl, proprietor of the Washington house on College Avenue, has purchased the store building formerly occupied by the T. F. ## PARENT-TEACHERS ASSN. MEETS MONDAY EVENING

Splendid Program is Planned for First Ward School Meeting—Question Box Discussion Will Feature

An enthusiastic meeting is planned for the Parent-Teachers association of the First Ward Monday evening at the school building, one of its big attractions being a spelling bee between the teachers and eighteen men residing in the ward.

The program will open at 7:30 o'clock with community singing and a short business session. Discussions will follow on questions dropped in the question box at the last meeting. They are as follows:

1. "Is it wise to use text books, the language of which is far beyond the comprehension of the pupil?"

2. "How can we train children to be democratic in school?"

3. "What is our school doing in the way of moral training for the pupil?"

Dean Frederick Vance Evans of Lawrence conservatory will render a solo at the meeting. After the singing bee, a social hour will follow. Residents of the ward, whether members or not, are expected to attend.

CHASE AND ZIMMERMAN MISSING FROM GIANTS

By United Press Leased Wire
New York—Hal Chase said to be through with baseball and Heinie Zimmerman, third baseman of the Giants, were missing today when Christy Mathewson called the role of the Giants in the San Antonio express.

Chase was reported on his way to California to fill a motion picture contract and the whereabouts of Zimmerman was not known.

Officials of the club here said neither would appear next season in a New York uniform. Chase will not play ball and Zimmerman may be traded.

TRAVELING LIBRARY IN ELM TREE SCHOOLHOUSE

The Elm Tree school at Greenville has received a collection of books from the Wisconsin Library commission. All residents of the community are entitled to draw them free of charge. The collection is equal to any now in circulation in the traveling libraries and is expected to prove quite popular. The books may be drawn on school days between the hours of 3:30 and five o'clock.

40 INSURANCE MEN ARE EXPECTED AT BANQUET

With the exception of naming the speaker, the plans are now complete for the banquet at 6:30 o'clock Monday evening for the Fox River Valley Underwriters' association. The event will take place at the Sherman house, and about 40 insurance men from Appleton and surrounding territory have announced their intention to come. Matters pertaining to the interests of the insurance will be the chief theme of the meeting.

Birthday Celebration
Members of the Concordia Choir of the Lutheran Church were the guests of the Rev. Mr. Boettcher of Hortonville Friday evening. An eight o'clock dinner was served at which 50 covers were laid, the occasion being Mrs. Boettcher's birthday anniversary.

Former Kaukauna Man Weds.
Announcements have been received in the city of the marriage of Jack Harrington, formerly of this city and Miss Elsie Schock of Hamilton, Ohio, Saturday, February 7. Mr. and Mrs. Harrington are residing in Hamilton for the present but expect to locate at Minneapolis where Mr. Harrington will be employed.

Good Time Club
Mrs. Frank Parks entertained the members of the Good Time club at her home on Taylor St. Friday.

Social Union Entertains
A series of parties known as "Initial Parties" are being planned by the ladies of the Social Union of the Brokaw M. E. church. The parties will be given to promote a good time socially and to help the Union financially. The first of the series will be given at the home of Mrs. H. S. Cooke on Wednesday, March 3. Mrs. Cooke and Miss Vesta Anderson will act as hostesses.

On Way to Bermuda
Meade Richardson is in receipt of a letter from his wife written on board the Fort Hamilton. Mrs. Richardson left for the Bermuda Islands last Saturday and according to word received should have reached her destination Friday. She expects to be gone from two to three months and will be a guest at the home of her sister, Mrs. Walter Denscombe, Hamilton, Bermuda Islands.

Recruiting Office Opened
A recruiting office has been opened in the Grand View Hotel by Sergt. Fred Lobman and Private George Stanton of the Sixth Division, U. S. Army. Both young men were members of the A. E. F. in France. All service men who have not as yet received Victory Buttons may secure them by presenting their discharge papers at the recruiting office.

Kaukauna will be well represented

ORATORICAL CONTEST IN HORTONVILLE HIGH SCHOOL

Event Will Be Held March 5—Son of Former Appleton Resident Is Buried in Village

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Hortonville, Wis.—The funeral of Donald Steffen was held from St. Peter and Paul church on Thursday. Eugene was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Steffen of Milwaukee, formerly of Appleton. His death, which was caused by bronchitis, occurred at Milwaukee on Monday, February 23. The body was brought here for burial. The deceased was four years and six months old. Those who attended the funeral from out of town were: Mrs. Louis Sager, John and Ignaz Berg, and Ella Hanger of Appleton; Mrs. Marvin Finger of Sugar Bush.

Farm Transfers
During the past week John Dietz sold his farm property to Martin Sexton. Mr. Dietz will make his home in the village.

Wilbur Collar has purchased the Anthony Christ farm. Mr. Christ will live at Appleton.

An oratorical and declamatory contest will take place at the Hortonville High School on March 5. All those taking part are carefully reviewing their work so as to make a good showing.

The dates have been set for the Outagamie County Fair. They are Sept. 15, 16 and 17.

Last Friday evening Miss Matilda Huettl entertained a few of her friends at her home in the village. The evening was spent playing rummy. About 10:30 o'clock a delicious luncheon was served.

The guests were the Misses Flox Schwarz, Emma Miller, Gertrude Flox, Cecelia Moske and Victoria Bahl. Miss Victoria Bahl has resigned her position at the Review office to attend Business College at Appleton.

Roland Steffen left Thursday morning for New York, where he will be employed by Homer Rich, formerly of Hortonville.

A Women's and Farmers' Institute will be held at the Opera House here, March 2 and 3.

STUDENTS INTERCEPT GERMAN RADIO NOTE

Madison.—A report of the financial relations between the United States and Chile as sent to Mexico City in Spanish by a German wireless station has been received by the high school wireless class under John A. Rinor. Messages are now being received from all parts of the world.

Calvert Dedrick, a senior in high school, who attended government schools in Porto Rico the first two years of his high school course, translated the message in Spanish from the German government.

CIGAR MANUFACTURER DIES WHILE IN SOUTH

Burlington, Wis.—Ben Holmes, one of the best known cigar manufacturers of southern Wisconsin, died suddenly at Miami, Fla. Mr. Holmes left his home at Burlington last week for Miami to spend the remainder of the winter with a brother. He is survived by his wife, three daughters, Mrs. Eugene Katsman, Bowers; Miss Florence Holmes, Racine; and Mrs. Robert Frazer, Burlington, and one son, Dr. Benjamin Holmes, Racine. The funeral was held from the home at Burlington on Thursday.

Manitowish.—The Goodrich liner Alabama, which was damaged when it struck a submerged crib off Chicago several days ago, arrived in port here for repairs. The boat made the trip under its own steam and was in command of Capt. Redner. General Superintendent Franklin, who came up with the boat, said that the extent of damage had not been determined, but expects that repairs will be made in a short time and the boat will be in service again within two weeks. This is uncertain, however.

It is certain that some of the hull plates are badly damaged. On the trip from Chicago only one pump was necessary to keep out the water. Supt. Franklin said.

PUBLIC HEALTH NURSES WILL MEET IN MADISON

Madison, Wis.—A state conference of public health nurses will be held in Madison later in the month, according to plans tentatively made by the bureau of child welfare and public health nursing.

Miss Nellie Van Koo, recently appointed field supervisor of public health nursing, will begin her visitations throughout the state on March 1, her first visits being to Racine and Kenosha.

ROCK COUNTY CHURCHES MAY BAND TOGETHER
Janesville, Wis.—To bring the churches of Rock county into closer harmony, a survey is now being made whereby it is hoped to get churches to band together to care for over-churches or under-churches communities of the rural districts. The plan is interdenominational and part of the interchurch world movement. Work has been completed in Clinton, Milton, Junction, Evansville and Edgerton.

ASHLAND ORGANIZES NEW NATIONAL GUARD
Ashland.—A new national guard company will be organized at Ashland by Capt. Hall of the regular army, on March 10. Fifty-four members of the company have been examined, and the company will consist of not more than 55 men. The local organization was effected by Capt. Thoreson. Ashland, who saw service in France. Co. L was Ashland's first company, and it took part in the Spanish war, and was in Porto Rico when the war ended. It was succeeded by Co. D and later on the Ashland Machine Gun Co., which was sent to the Mexican border and to France.

APPRENTICE DIPLOMA VALUABLE DOCUMENT

APPRENTICESHIP LAW OF THE STATE REQUIRES ALL ROUND TRAINING FOR STUDENTS.

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Madison, Wis.—An outline of the provisions of standard apprenticeship contracts in many trades is given in the third annual report on apprenticeship which was issued today by the Industrial Commission. Standard apprenticeship contracts exist for the following trades: Machinists, boiler-maker, metal pattern-maker, plasterer, plumber, brick-layer, compositor, lithograph transferer, baker, custom tailor, watch-maker, jeweler, jewelry engraver, barber and milliner.

The apprenticeship law of the state requires that all minors over sixteen years of age who receive any instruction in any trade or business as a part of their remuneration, shall be indentured. All such indentures must be approved by the Industrial Commission. In every indenture the time to be given to various operations is set forth in detail, and for all of the grades listed above these schedules are uniform throughout the state, with only minor modifications to meet local requirements.

The Industrial Commission retains control over all apprentices to make sure that they receive all-round training for their trade and that the terms of the trade schedule contained in the apprenticeship contract are observed. On the other hand, the law protects the employer against breaches of the contract by the apprentice, through making them liable to a fine of from $1.00 to $100.00 should they jump the contract. The Industrial Commission has power to annul contracts for good cause, but does so only when this is clearly necessary. During the first two years of an apprenticeship, the apprentice receives instructions in a continuation school for five hours per week to supplement his shop training. Upon successful completion of an apprenticeship a diploma is issued by the Industrial Commission.

"An apprenticeship diploma is of greater value to a boy," said Stewart Scribshaw, supervisor of apprenticeship, "than any high school diploma. Wisconsin employers know that and apprenticeship diploma is given only to an all-around mechanic, and even outside of the state our diplomas are securing recognition. While a boy is learning a trade under an apprenticeship indenture, he earns somewhat less money than he would earn as a semi-skilled specialist. He more than makes this up in increased wages, however, within a very short time after he has successfully completed his contract."

OFFER BONUS FOR U. S. GUARD RECRUITS
Janesville, Wis.—This city's new national guard company now drilling under the supervision of Sergt. Ernest Wood, regular army, detailed as drillmaster to the Wisconsin National guard, plans to fit up its armory for use as a clubhouse with billiard room, well-furnished lounging and smoking room, card room, and dance hall. The unit plans to enter largely into the social and athletic affairs of the city, committees being appointed to arrange programs. To add the 30 members necessary to receive federal recognition, a prize of $25 has been offered for the civilian-soldier who brings in the most recruits by next Monday night, no minimum figure being set.

APPOINT TWO WOMEN SOCIAL SERVICE WORKERS
Madison, Wis.—The appointment of two young women to positions of social service workers in connection with venereal disease clinics was made this month by the state board of health. Miss Mary McCarville, Burlington, has been assigned to the clinic at La Crosse. Miss Evelyn Norman, Hurley, has been appointed to the clinic staff at Superior. Both are trained nurses. There are now eight young women in these positions at clinics in as many Wisconsin cities.

LA CROSSE NORMAL TO HONOR SOLDIER DEAD
La Crosse, Wis.—Memorial services in honor of La Crosse soldiers, sailors and marines who died in the World war, at which diplomas awarded by the French government will be presented to relatives of the deceased, will be held at the La Crosse State Normal school Sunday. The services will be held under the auspices of Frank L. Shuman post of the American legion, and John F. Doherty will be the principal speaker.

HERE'S CHANCE TO ENTER THE ARMY OR THE NAVY
Madison.—Civil service examinations will be held throughout the state on March 30 to secure eligible men for appointment at either Annapolis or West Point. There are two vacancies to be filled in June, 1920. Candidates must be between 16 and 20 years old. The young man standing first in a competitive civil service examination is named principal and the alternates are appointed in the order of their standing. Full information can be obtained by writing to either the Wisconsin civil service or to Senator La Follette, who is to make the appointments.

PROMPT REPORTS OF ALL SOCIAL DISEASES

RELUCTANCE OF DOCTORS TO REPORT CASES IS OVERCOME BY NEW SYSTEM NOW IN USE

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Madison, Wis.—The lengths to which the state campaign for venereal disease control has gone can be attributed in good measure to the participation of physicians who have complied with the rules for reporting venereal cases serially. This is one of the regulations which received increasing support as time and experience demonstrated its value, says Dr. F. P. Thompson, director of the state bureau of social hygiene.

Early in the campaign the reluctance of many physicians to make these reports to the state board of health furnished a discouraging obstacle. This was also the experience when tuberculosis first was made reportable. This attitude gradually was superseded. The view that a stigma would attach to a family with a case of tuberculosis has long since been discarded. In the case of social diseases, names are omitted from reports entirely and the cases are reported only by serial number.

This plan furnishes data regarding the prevalence of these diseases and provides a way by which the state can keep a check on the program made in treatment and control. The cooperation of physicians in reporting these diseases is developing rapidly and each month shows progress. Reporting by serial number only, except under certain conditions involving obstinate refusal to abide by the regulations, is the plan now adopted by forty states, and removes the objection that professional confidences are vi-

BRITONS PROMISE HOMES TO CHILDREN OF FORMER ENEMIES

AMERICAN HELP IS NEEDED, HOWEVER, TO TRANSPORT YOUNGSTERS FROM FAMINE AREAS

By Milton Bronner
(Special to Post-Crescent)

London—"If America wants to help let her contribute money to assist us in bringing children from famine areas to England, where they can be properly fed and clothed for a year."

This urgent message, the Famine Area Children's Hospitality Committee asked me to send to America. The committee proposes to bring thousands of children from Austria and Hungary and later from Poland and Germany, if possible.

The children are to be selected by relief committees in stricken areas. They will be medically examined in their countries and again at the port of entry in England. They will be taken to a camp, where they will remain for observation, and be equipped with clothing, after which they'll be sent to private homes, which have offered to care for them.

It will take a large sum to transport the starving children here and to run the camp and buy needed clothing. Their board may have to be paid in some homes. It is estimated there are 100,000 children each in Vienna, Buda Pest, Prague, Warsaw and similar cities in the famine area.

These are children suffering from starvation and rickets and do not include those with infectious diseases who can't be brought out. Two reasons for bringing the children out are the terrible moral conditions in the famine area and the difficulty of shipping food in.

It takes two months to send food to Vienna. Quicker trains can be procured for sending the children out. Holland recently managed this in 10 days. The committee has asked the British government for use of old military camps and also for Red Cross ships to go to Trieste. The committee is being flooded with letters offering homes to the children.

One woman has written that she knows no enemies under 8 years of age.

Continental countries already have done a big share in boarding children, but the maximum stay is two months, whereas England proposes to keep them one year. Switzerland has boarded 14,000 Austrian children and hopes to take in 30,000 more.

The Dutch Catholic Peasants Union has arranged to give homes to 2500 children. The Dutch committee, appealing for homes and funds, says: "Every child who has tasted a meal here with a poor family is better off than in Vienna, as he can at least crutch by a warm stove."

The Swedish government has arranged to receive 3,000 children, while 6,000 homes are offered by the peasants.

Denmark has taken in 1,000. Five thousand more homes have been asked for. A remarkable showing has been made by Italy, hereditary enemy of Austria. Over 4,000 Austrian children have been placed in Italian homes, while the Italian government has given 100 tons of food.

It is figured that America is too far away to receive famine children, but can at least help in the rescue work by sending money and clothing to countries which are opening homes to sufferers.

WILDCAT SCHEMES OF COOPERATION ARE SPRINGING UP

CONFIDENCE MEN ARE TAKING ADVANTAGE OF THE WAGE OF COOPERATIVE MOVEMENT

(Special to Post-Crescent)

(Chicago)—Beware of cooperative con games!

This is the warning of Dalton T. Clarke, president of the National Cooperative Wholesale, with headquarters here.

Confidence men with fraudulent cooperative schemes are fleecing people in all parts of the country, says Clarke. Taking advantage of the widespread interest in cooperation these fakers are traveling from city to city with wildcat promotion plans.

"Various schemes are being used," says Clarke, "but they all have one thing in common. The promoter receives a portion of the stock—usually 50 per cent—for organization. True cooperative enterprises are formed by the stockholders themselves and there is no promotion cost."

Although the methods of the confidence cooperators differ in detail, in general the plan, according to Clarke, is as follows:

People known to be interested in cooperation are sent circular letters. They are told of the immense profits of European cooperatives all of which accrue to the stockholders. At the proper time glib gentlemen gather their prospective victims together and offer to organize a cooperative store. In payment for their services they are to receive a fat share of the first payments on stock.

Then They Decamp

Often the promoters decamp as soon as they have their share of the stock sale funds, according to Clarke. Sometimes one of them stays as temporary store manager. In this case a huge part of the first profit is taken for "operating and overhead" expenses and finds its way to the pockets of the promoter and his confederates.

In some cities merchants have disguised profit-making stores as cooperative enterprises, Clarke declares. Most of these stores have offered discounts, rebates and profit-sharing coupons under the guise of cooperatives.

"Such merchants have been a menace to the cooperative movement," avers Clarke, "because they have often disgusted people with cooperation and because in some cases they have been actual competitors of bona fide cooperative stores."

Usually the labor organizations of a city investigate the schemes of purported cooperators and can advise the promoters' victims, says Clarke. In any case the nearest established cooperative store or organization will be glad to investigate any enterprise suspected of fake.

The laws of some states forbid the use of the word "cooperative" to advance any enterprise not truly cooperative. In other states the promoters of cooperative con games can be prosecuted for obtaining money under false pretenses.

HOME MADE AIRSHIP READY FOR ENGINE

BUT A. F. BEILKE, ITS MAKER, FINDS COST OF MOTIVE POWER IS OUT OF HIS REACH

Work on the first aeroplane built in Appleton is progressing nicely. A. F. Beilke, fireman of Company number one, who designed the craft and is erecting it in the basement of the fire station has gotten it practically to the point where it is ready for the engine.

The craft is of the scout bi-plane type with a frame of ash and spruce, and is built from designs drawn by Mr. Beilke himself. It will carry only the driver.

Where to procure funds with which to purchase the engine is the problem the fireman-builder is facing at the present time. The type of engine needed, a radial motor, will cost $600, and this expense is a little out of keeping with a fire-fighter's income. He is hoping that some Appleton people interested in seeing Appleton produce an airship of its own will be able to suggest how he can complete the ship for flying. There are plenty of men who can fix it after its erection is completed, Mr. Beilke states, and he is anxious to see it brought to that point.

40,000 NEBRASKANS BEAT LIVING COSTS

COOPERATIVE SOCIETIES IN THE WESTERN STATE HAVE PUT MONEY INTO FARMERS' POCKETS

By Russ Simonton
(Special to Post-Crescent)

Omaha, Neb.—With the club of cooperation 40,000 Nebraska farmers are beating to death the high cost of living.

Through 1200 cooperative trading centers Nebraskans bought and sold $100,000,000 worth of goods and farm produce in 1919. They averaged 4 cents a bushel more for their grain than the market price. They saved from 5 to 10 per cent on their groceries and clothing. In addition they put in their pockets 56 per cent of the commissions they formerly gave middlemen.

"Cooperation in Nebraska is passing into the second stage of usefulness," says J. O. Shroyer, member of the executive board of the Farmers' Educational and Cooperative Union of Nebraska. "At first we were only interested in selling the farmers' products at the highest price. Then we began to sell him goods cheaper than could be bought from profit-making stores."

"We have forced the state Legislature to give us state hail insurance. That prevents a farmer from being absolutely 'cleaned out' if hail destroys his corn. He pays an average price of 80 cents an acre for the insurance and collects $15 an acre if his crops are destroyed. That will just about pay for the seed. We pay for the insurance when we pay our taxes and the cost of the department has been just 3 per cent to the state since it was established."

Now the farmers are seeking a seat on the grain exchange. They will thus have a hand in the actual selling of their corn.

Cooperation came into being in Nebraska eight years ago. For three years the work was largely educational. Now the state union has supervising power over all local stores and warehouses.

The farmer delivers his products to the local store. The store ships them to the warehouses of the state union. Livestock is shipped directly to the cooperative commission houses in Omaha, St. Joseph, Mo., and Sioux City, Ia. There it is placed on the open market. The state organization retains 30 per cent of the usual commissions. This pays the cost of handling. Fourteen per cent is turned into the general fund and the remaining 36 per cent given back to the farmer.

"Now," says Shroyer, "we plan to incorporate our warehouse company here for $2,000,000. At present it is incorporated for $52,000 and last year did a business of $2,700,000."

SIX AMERICANS HELD BY BOLSHIEVIST FORCES

By United Press—Leased Wire
Washington — Captain Edward Charette of Stockton, Calif., a Red Cross worker has arrived at Irkutsk with news of six other Americans who are held by the bolsheviks, according to dispatches to the Red Cross headquarters here today. Charette was one of the men captured by the reds, but they permitted him to go through the lines with word that his companions were being well treated. He traveled 800 miles by sled, as the railroad was tied up.

The Americans were being permitted to remain in Krasnoyarsk, where they were captured, Charette reported. At first the bolsheviks were determined to carry them to Moscow, but the orders were changed later.

A MESSAGE from the eleventh hour insurance men to the World War Service Men of the United States

In keeping with our established practice of rendering service in our line of endeavor to the World War Service Men of the United States, we take this opportunity of publishing for their information a communication from the Treasury Department under date of February 3rd, 1920, for immediate release. Do not fail to read every word of the communication as the lack of interest may cost your loved ones dearly.

For Immediate Release

TREASURY DEPARTMENT
BUREAU OF WAR RISK INSURANCE
LNR201A 2-3-20

REINSTATEMENT OF WAR RISK INSURANCE
WITHIN 18 MONTHS
STILL HOLDS GOOD

To relieve any confusion that may exist in the minds of former service men on account of the special provision of lapsed War Term Insurance which authorized reinstatement up to December 31, 1919, regardless of date of discharge, announcement is made by Director R. G. Chomeley-Jones of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance that the provisions for reinstatement of lapsed or canceled insurance, within 18 months from date of discharge, upon payment of only two months' premiums on the amount of insurance to be reinstated, provided the insured is in as good health as at the date of discharge or expiration of the grace period whichever is the later date, and so states in his application, still holds good.

The provision that discharged service men are permitted to reinstate at any time within three calendar months following the month of discharge by merely paying two months' premium, without making a formal application or statement as to health is also still in force.

The provisions for reinstatement do not protect a man until he actually reinstates. If he waits he may not be in as good health as he was at the time of his discharge and consequently may not be able to secure reinstatement. Don't put off reinstatement. Do it now!

If you want any advice or information concerning your present Annual Renewable Term Insurance or in regard to the new plans as offered by the Government, we are at your service "gratis." Avoid the agent who tries to get you to drop your Government Insurance or who will not do all in his power to urge and assist you to re-instate your insurance with the Government.

WANT TO ESTABLISH 1,000 COOPERATIVE STORES IN GOTHAM

OFFICERS OF CIVIC ORGANIZATION ARE ACTIVE IN THE MOVEMENT TO CUT LIVING COST

By Chester M. Wright (Special to Post-Crescent)

New York.—New York City is to have 1,000 retail cooperative stores if the plans of an organization now being formed are successful.

Numbered among the sponsors of the plan are officials of some of the most active civic organizations in the city. A temporary committee has established headquarters in room 3111, 119 Broadway.

This committee charges that New Yorkers pay $16,000,000 annually for transportation of commodities from lower New York to Washington Heights and the Bronx because food distribution is controlled by a small group which prevents erection of properly placed terminal markets.

The objects of the cooperators are set forth as being:

To manufacture and produce, as far as possible, a complete line of food products by acquiring or leasing a number of plants or contracting for the entire output of such plants on a basis of cost plus fair profit.

To contract with farmers for direct supply of farm products.

To secure a direct and assured supply of milk, cream, butter and eggs by contracting with producers.

To establish central terminals and modern warehouses adjacent to rail and water transport.

To eliminate excessive and unjustifiable profits of manufacturer, wholesaler, producer, speculator and retailer.

To establish 1,000 or more cooperative retail stores.

The temporary committee believes this big program can be accomplished, because it believes thousands of New Yorkers are ready to turn to cooperation for relief from the high cost of living.

The committee says the greater number of manufacturers and producers of food products have reaped an average net profit of 20 per cent during the last few years, most of them on overcapitalized concerns. The committee says also that 25,000 retailers in New York "are making from 20 per cent to 30 per cent profit."

It costs about $2,500,000,000 annually to feed the 10,000,000 people in New York and its immediate suburbs. The cooperators allege that of this fully $1,800,000,000 is an overcharge.

The Rochdale plan of cooperation is to be adopted in the proposed scheme for New York's 1,000 cooperative stores.

POLICE OFFICER TOTALLY DISABLED IN BRAWL

Merinette.—Police Officer Frank Bruce, who was seriously injured in a street brawl on the night of June 30, 1918, during a "last night" celebration here, was adjudged totally disabled by Thomas Konop, member of the industrial commission, at a hearing today. The city did not oppose the claim made by his attorneys. He will be given the full award allowed under the law. Bruce was struck by Frank Schumacher of Menominee, who served a three months' sentence for the offense. He sustained a slight brain lesion and will be unable to work the rest of his life.

WANT SQUARE DEAL FOR SERVICE MEN

AMERICAN LEGION HOLDS CONGRESS LAGGARD IN REWARDING RETURNED SOLDIERS AND SAILORS

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Washington, D. C.—The states have outdistanced the federal government in aid and honor to service men.

Thirty-seven states have made provision for ex-soldiers and sailors. Monuments are being raised, bronze medals have been voted and in many ways the way made easy for the man who wants to own a farm or home.

Seven states have given bonuses amounting to an average of $100 for each man. It is estimated that $70,000,000 will be paid 550,000 men from these states.

Legislatures have delayed action in some states waiting for congressional action. The government is tardy. To date is has done no more than given the following:

A $60 bonus for each man.

Preferred civil service standing.

Permission to keep uniforms and personal equipment.

Partial relief to the disabled through the vocational training laws.

Incorporation to the American Legion.

Permanent rank to Pershing.

Ten obsolete rifles to legion posts for funeral ceremonies.

Service men 60-day prior right to settle on homestead tracts opened.

These benefits do not satisfy the American Legion or a majority of state legislatures eager to cooperate with the government in any aid program.

"We want a square deal and less delay," say the members of the American Legion national beneficial legislative committee.

Congress should give ex-service men choice of the following forms of aid by the passage of a law within the next 60 days, according to Commander Franklin D'Olier of the legion:

1.—Land settlement rights in all states.

2.—Aid in purchasing city or rural homes.

3.—Vocational training for all ex-service persons.

4.—Adjustment of compensation or extra pay based on length of service.

COSTS MONEY TO KEEP A DOG IN WISCONSIN

State License Fee is Added to Up-keep of Family Pet—Sheep Raisers Sponsor New Law

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Madison, Wis.—If you own a dog here is a matter which will claim three dollars or five dollars worth at least of your attention. The last Legislature, that of 1919, enacted a new dog law. It was passed at the urgent request of the farmers who desire to raise more sheep, and the State Department of Agriculture was directed to administer the law.

"The new law proposes to deal humanely with dogs," said Mr. Norgard head of the department of agriculture today. "but it also proposes to lessen the number of vagrant dogs in Wisconsin, from which sheep have suffered so horribly. This low contemplates that every dog shall have an owner, and a home, and the every dog owner shall procure a license for his dog. This license must be procured from the town, village or city clerk of the municipality in which the owner resides. For a male dog the license fee is $3 and for the female $5.

"Every assessor must list the dogs in his district and return one copy of his list to the clerk. Any dog found after July 1 of this year without a license tag may be seized by any peace officer and if not reclaimed within a reasonable time will be disposed of in some humane manner. For each dog thus seized the officer will receive $1.00."

The law wasn't created by the State Department of Agriculture, and under its terms that body has no alternative but to enforce it as the provisions of it requires.

MURDER AND PRAYER END MARRIED FOLKS TRIANGLE

Murderer Shoots Man by Mistake Who Was Stealing Affections of Heart Broken Husband Who Was Praying in Church for Love's Return

By Jesse F. Gelders (Special to Post-Crescent)

Dallas, Tex.—Mrs. P. G. Bordenave walked with A. L. Herring in Forest Park, while her husband, with howled headprayed in the Oak Cliff Christian Science Church that his wife's love be returned to him—that his home be saved.

As the strolling couple paused in a darkened pavilion another man approached. With a curse, he advanced toward the figures he saw outlined against the sky.

He shot.

Herring fell dead.

The slayer sprang toward Mrs. Bordenave, saw he checked him, and threw his hands before his face.

"I've shot the wrong man!" he screamed.

Then he turned and fled.

Two days later Bordenave embraced his wife and they walked arm in arm from the city jail.

Billie McVay, a youth of 20, had confessed to the killing. He was a stranger to the Bordenaves. He had never seen Herring before he shot him.

According to information in the district attorney's office here, McVay's bullet had been intended for another man.

"I would have done anything rather than kill an innocent man," he said, in jail.

Herring's body was sent to St. Louis where he is survived by a widow and two children.

APPROPRIATION FOR ROADS WON'T DRAIN COUNTY TREASURY

ESTIMATE OF EXPENSES IS READ TO COUNTY BOARD—CANNOT SELL BONDS BELOW PAR

The $48,000 bonds for good roads which the county board decided to issue yesterday will bear interest at the rate of five per cent payable semi-annually in April and October and will be sold to the highest bidder at the court house, Friday, April 2.

The bonds bear date of April 1, 1920, and are payable in two equal installments at the office of the county treasurer. They will be delivered on May 1, 1920, and will be in denominations of $500, one to forty-eight inclusive falling due on April 1, 1921, and from forty-nine to ninety-six falling due on April 1, 1922. Provision is made that none of the bonds shall be sold less than par. The issue is to be approved by Wood and Oakley, bonding attorneys of Chicago.

Anthony McClone, assemblyman from the second district, who advocated transfer of $127,000 from the general fund to the road fund prepared a list of the expenses of the county the coming year which he read showing that the transfer could be made without embarrassment. The expenses of the county were figured as follows:

Salaries of county officials, $35,000; per diem and mileage, county board, $5,500; blind relief, $4,000; soldiers relief, $600; tax redemption, $10,000; election printing and publishing, $8,000; operating expenses of court house, $5,000; operating expenses of jail, $1,500; insane accounts, $400; bounties, $600; justice, coroner and constable accounts, $1,000; sureties bonds, $500; poor accounts, $4,000; office supplies and expenses, general $4,000; canvassing, destroying and delivery of ballots, $300; auditing, $500; permanent improvements, $4,000; bond issue expenses, $1,000; soldiers' burials, $200; vital statistics, $1,500; sanitarium, upkeep, $10,000; mothers' pension, $15,000; county fairs, $1,500; miscellaneous items, $4,000; unexpected charges, $6,000; claims against the county, $30,000.

Mr. McClone stated that there was sufficient money in the general fund to cover these expenses and to also permit the transfer of the $127,000

NO OFFICIAL BACKING FOR WOOD DELEGATES

FRED F. WETTENGEL NOTIFIED THAT WOOD WILL NOT CONTEST FOR BADGER DELEGATES

Candidates for election as delegates to the republican national convention in Chicago next June on "Wood for President" platform will not have the official backing of the Wood headquarters. Fred Felix Wettengel, who is a candidate for election on that platform, has been notified. Similar notices have been sent to Capt. H. H. Peavey of the Eleventh district and Judge N. B. Neelen of the Fourth district.

According to the letter from J. J. McGovern state manager of the Leonard Wood campaign, Milwaukee, no contest will be made in Wisconsin in order to preserve harmony. Wood candidates will not be barred from the field but they cannot expect the official backing of the headquarters.

The resolution to keep out of Wisconsin is a result of the decision of Wood managers to center their fight in Illinois, Michigan and the Dakotas. If these states can be carried, Wood men in the central west believe the nomination of their choice is assured.

The effort to wrest Lowden's own state from him turns on a conflict which has arisen over the recreated Illinois tax commission. The new commission, which is a part of the Lowden legislative program, is alleged to have lowered the taxes of the Pullman Co. and the Chicago Gas Co. Meanwhile taxation generally has shown an increase.

If the Wood managers can make the allegations with respect to the tax commission stand, they believe they can capture the Illinois delegation. If they do that they think the Lowden candidacy will be defeated.

Situation in Wisconsin

In Wisconsin they think Gen. Wood will receive favorable consideration from such proportion of the Philip West delegation as is elected. But they are not overlooking possibilities with regard to the La Follette state. With La Follette out of the field the logical first choice of this delegation would be Johnson, according to the Wood political chart. Johnson, however, is an impossibility, because the east will not accept him. When his name is dropped, a good share of the Johnson vote from Wisconsin and elsewhere is expected to go to Wood and make his nomination a certainty.

This is the way the Wood men have sized it up, and this is how they expect to get a big Wisconsin vote in the convention without making a delegate campaign.

WANT CANAD NS TO MODIFY EMBARGOES

COMMISSION IS CREATED TO CONFER WITH CANADA ON SHIPMENTS OF PULP AND PRINT PAPER

By United Press Leased Wire

Washington.—The senate Friday adopted the Underwood resolution to create a commission to negotiate with Canada regarding modification of embargoes on wood pulp and print paper.

On motion of Senator McKellar, Tennessee, the senate amended the resolution to cover all classes of paper and newsprint.

Senator King, Utah, asked if negotiations could not be carried on thru the state department.

Underwood replied that his proposed commission would offer a more direct channel.

Senator Kirby, Arkansas, declared the state department at his request recently induced Canada to lift the embargo on newsprint so that a newspaper in his state could obtain a shipment.

"Why couldn't the state department do this in all cases?" Kirby asked. "I don't see the necessity of appropriating $50,000 for a special commission."

Senator Hitchcock replied that Canada is considering establishment of her own diplomatic agency in the United States and that she might prefer dealing direct with a special commission rather than through the British embassy and the state department.

RADIUM AFFORDS MOST RELIEF IN CANCERS AND FIBROIDS

The greatest successes encountered in the use of radium for therapeutical purposes have come from the larger cities, the colleges and the more important hospitals. There is a distinct reason for this fact, as we will endeavor to explain.

With the early discoveries of radium, the difficulty encountered in mining and refining the mineral was even greater than at present. As a result the substance was so scarce that it could be secured only by an institution in a position to make an unusual effort and investment. The radium supply was limited and was used by very few operators.

Early experimental work was therefore entirely in the hands of the largest centers and while the mineral is now somewhat easier to obtain, the points where radium is owned and used have not been greatly multiplied.

As the importance of radium in surgical work was appreciated it tended more to bring larger numbers of patients to the clinics and institutions already located rather than to open new institutions.

Another most important reason for this condition is found in the limited number of practitioners who were trained to handle and administer radium. Trained surgeons, working with radium specialists at General Memorial and Womens Hospitals in New York, and a few of the other large institutions, soon began to use the mineral in connection with their surgical work, found it invaluable and through the American Medical Society and Medical meetings reported it to others.

And so the use of radium is slowly but surely spreading to all portions of the country and must eventually come to remote districts in the form of radium institutes located in centers where facilities for travel, hospital attention and other advantages exist. It will then be possible for anyone and everyone to secure the advantage of radium treatment.

There is one great danger to the public in the dissemination of information relative to radium, and that is the danger of expecting too much. Radium is not a cure all nor is it a performer of miracles.

It is however an agent which in the hands of a competent practitioner will give relief where other factors have failed. It is not a positive specific for cancer. Competent practitioners however report that with its use they have stayed the progress of this malignant growth, have given relief in cases where surgeons refused to operate, have added many years of comparative comfort to patients' lives and have used it with the knife to effectually remove all danger of recurrence.

This is the last article to be run in this space but to those interested further information relative to radium and its curative properties will be forwarded by addressing The Radium Educational Bureau, Post Office Box 506 Green Bay, Wis.
